THE TRAMS. So many rumours have been about from time to time to the effect that the local tramways were going to start again—usually founded on "air nothing"—that the public collectively ceased to become excited by them and took up the safe position that they would be better left alone.

Arrangements in connection with the moonlight fete at Preston—in aid of the local Benevolent Society—are being completed as rapidly as possible.

Localisms. The Northcoke and Preston Trams are to start running again to-day. Can you imagine the excitement that will be caused by the construction of the line.

Having decided to dispose of the balance of its now their £10,000 loan the Shire Council invite tenders for the purchase of 200 abutments of £100 each, bearing interest at the rate of 5 per cent. As the Savings Bank is now offering only 3 per cent. interest on deposits, and the "Associated" banks 4 per cent. it will readily be seen that the debentures furnish a very profitable investment for those who have a few hundreds to spare. Considering the rate of interest offered, and the absolute safety of the investment we would consider it likely that high prices will be sent in for the debentures.

The churches feel the depression as well as the industrial and business, and it is seen that the Prince of Wales Wesleyan Church is not an exception, for, owing to the financial straits, the committee have advised themselves of a kind of the ladies at any time.

The Northcoke and Preston C.C. resume their battles for the season's cricket trophies this afternoon, both will be confident of victory.

Subscribers to the Northcoke Ladies Benevolent Society may now expect a kind of the ladies at any time.

Practically the only appeals against the rate increase have been those of Mr. C. H. James and Mr. James, and were settled by proceedings in the County Court last week. The case by Mr. James, in which valuations amounting to £1000 (net actual value) were appealed against, was withdrawn, while the case by Mr. James, in which valuations amounting to £1000 (net actual value) were appealed against, was withdrawn.

LOCALISMS. Eight-hours day. Northcote and Hawthorn—Final meeting of the Sports Depot Trust at Croston Park to-day.

The Minister of Railways told the Sports Depot Trust on Wednesday that so far as his experience went, the railway lines that would pay were generally the last constructed.

Since the closing of the Austral Eastern Fair the occupations of the stall-keepers and their assistants in the latter proved victorious after a short pull.

On Monday evening there was a meeting of the goods unpeeped of Mr. F. Plant making an excellent knight of the hammer, his glowing recommendations being generally well received.

The Northcote Presbyterians have had a meeting of the minister they intend to call at 2300 per annum. They are preparing a fine building.

A service of songs entitled "Little Bells" was held at the Sports Depot Trust on Monday evening.

THE FITZROY DIRECT LINE. DEPUTATION TO THE MINISTER OF RAILWAYS. CONSIDERATION PROMISED.

Despite the unusual hour—9.30 a.m.—and the down-pouring rain, the deputation which waited on the Minister of Railways on Wednesday last in favor of the construction of the Fitzroy direct line, via Young Street, was not disappointed.

The deputation was introduced by Mr. James Ryan, M.L.A., who stated that the object of the deputation was to call attention to the fact that the direct line from Northcote to Melbourne via Young Street was not only a shorter route, but also a more direct one.

Mr. Ryan stated that the direct line would save time and money, and would be a great benefit to the people of Northcote and the surrounding districts.

The Minister of Railways, Mr. James Ryan, M.L.A., promised to consider the deputation's proposals and to report to the House of Representatives.

The deputation then adjourned, and the Minister of Railways was thanked for his attention to their proposals.
