AZIM KHAN'S CAPTIVE. A TALE OF THE INDIAN MUTINY.

On the 20th of the month, it was the evening day, but the following day, the morning dawned bright and clear, and the sun shone brightly on the sea.

"I should imagine," said Chester, "that you would be glad to see me again. I have been thinking of you very much since we parted."

"I am glad to hear that," said the other man, "and I am sure you will find me the same as ever. I have been very busy, but I have not forgotten you."
