should be, and, I have no doubt, will On the merits of the question there is, in my opinion, left little room for debate. The turning point of the argument is as to the amount that should be paid—in other words whether the sum of £500 or £1000 should stand in the way of the Progress of the Town of Northcote. It is no hidien secret that the train fares are to be raised and a dark hint is thrown out that after seven o'clock in the evening the cabs ought to have an excess fare. These things happening, in what condition may we expect to find Northcote in a few months. Will not the working classes of Northcote, who have to go have to leave the town to be supported G. To cut off the traffic from Melbourne and the surrounding municipalities must of necessity seriously effect the trading and business interests of the town, and, once distroyed, it may take years to recover. To suppose that Northcote, during the lives of the present inhabitanta, will be able to repossess themselves of the trams if the present plant is removed would be to expect the impossible, since the cost of a new plant would exceed £27,000.

If the ratepayers had a choice of circumstances, that is to say, if they circumstances, that is to say, if they had any alternative between having the present tram service or some other service, it would be an important factor in the present tram service or some other service, it would be an important factor in the present tram service or some other service or a pleasant character, terminating at 11 p.m. position is the present tram service or judgment and not possion will be exed. SIR,—Will you kindly allow me to state that in consequence of a runor I heard about the position taken by Mr. Mitchell on the tram question, I colled on him to-day and after talking the matter over, was obliged to withdraw my name from the requisition asking him to stand for the council, as I consider the running of the trams as of viral interest to the welfare of the town. It is of the utmost importance of the town. It is of the utmost importance of the town. The feature that the back and between the shoulders, causing me intense suffering. I think it was met intense suffering. I think it was timely level that caused this. As time week for the half-year is 3s 7d.

a fact that any decent house is vacant for less than twenty-four hours? I am in a position to know. If the trams are such a splendid investment at £5000, why has not the M. T. & O. Co. mopped them up? Is it not a feeder to the Clifton Hill line? The company don't seem to think the bank's price any great shakes. The people who are clauring most loudly for trams are not the people who have to pay the rates, but the people who have to want the peonly tram to Smith street, where they may trade. If an article is bought in Smith street, it must, of course, be cheaper than anything in Northcote. As for the people whose business is in the City, are they going to pay 10d. return by trams when they can get the same accommodation for 3d., and better for 44d? And less.
