SIR PERCIVAL'S TENANT.

By R. C. KERRICK. "Mother," said the child, "mother can't pay her rent."

"Who's a tenant?" "The man that rents the house for you to live in."

"Here he comes!" said Sir Percival, as a servant announced the arrival of the tenant.

"What a lovely girl!" said Sir Percival, as he looked at the young woman who had just arrived.

WIT AND HUMOUR.

An American visitor overheard the following conversation between his hostess and a young man.

He (feeling his way to a knowledge of the hostess's name) said: "I don't know your name, but I don't care."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Stewing.—Use only such water as is required for the purpose of cooking.

When making jelly with fresh fruit, the juice should be strained through a cloth.

When a man boasts about what he did last year, and what he is going to do this year, he is usually talking nonsense.

When you are tired you stretch your arms and legs, yawn, and yawn, and yawn.
