NEW SERIAL STORY! READ OPENING CHAPTERS THIS WEEK. THE POISON OF ASPES. CHAPTER I. CHIRALOPOLIS.

CHAPTER I. CHIRALOPOLIS. In the gorgeous library of Platon Court two men were facing each other. The word 'poison' is one that is lightly applied to a library, since its effects upon the master of the house just as it is applied to the drawing-rooms.

CHAPTER II. A PRISONER'S REALM. Sir John's attitude of astonishment looked upon the Court as a man of letters. He had been told that the man was a prisoner, and he had been told that the man was a prisoner.

CHAPTER III. THE YANKEE WAS HEATEN. It is one of those American adjectives which are of such frequent use that they are almost as common as the words 'yes' and 'no'.

WANTED - Two Men, Outfitting and Cutting Firework Contractors. - F. E. Wood, new agent, Preston.

The Passing of Matthew

Everyone that is anyone in Market Harbour—knew old Webster. "Miser" Webster was a name known to all. His appellation was by no means unbecoming. For the more than a month man was that name.

Webster's home was in Market Harbour. It was a small, one-story building with a porch. The porch was the place where Webster spent most of his time. He was a man of few words, but his eyes told a story.

Webster's life was a long one. He had seen many changes in Market Harbour. He had seen the town grow from a small village to a bustling town. He had seen the people change, but he remained the same.

Webster's death was a surprise to many. He had seemed so well. He had seemed so strong. But one day he was taken ill, and he never recovered.

Webster's passing was a loss to the town. He had been a part of the fabric of Market Harbour. His death was a reminder that life is short and that we should cherish the time we have.

WHICH ARE YOU?

There are two kinds of people on earth today. One is the man who is content with his lot. He is satisfied with what he has and does not desire more.

The other is the man who is always looking for something more. He is never satisfied with what he has and is always striving for more.

Which are you? Are you one of the contented ones, or are you one of the striving ones? It is up to you to decide.

The man who is content with his lot is a man of peace. He is a man who is at ease with himself and with the world.

The man who is always looking for something more is a man of strife. He is a man who is never at ease and is always in a state of unrest.

WHIT AND HUMOUR

"But surely," urged Robert, "seeing he is suffering." "Not necessarily," responded Dobson. "For instance, if you see every day, but as to whether he is suffering, I have no idea."

"You mean," said Robert, "that you don't know if he is suffering?" "I don't know," replied Dobson. "I am not a doctor, and I am not a nurse."

"But surely," said Robert, "if you are not a doctor or a nurse, how can you know if he is suffering?" "I don't know," replied Dobson. "I am not a doctor, and I am not a nurse."
