VERDANT TASMANIA

AND WHEREAS OVERCOME

NATURE

By Frank W. Gibson.

Wear of waiting for rain, some weeks ago I went over to Tasmania, a large island, in the south of New Zealand, where I saw some of the most beautiful scenery in the world. The country is so fertile that it is said to be the richest soil in the world, and the climate is so healthy that it is said to be the best in the world. The island is only 100 miles long, but it is so fertile that it is said to be the richest soil in the world, and the climate is so healthy that it is said to be the best in the world.

which we used to sleep in one of the old huts, which were built of stone and wood. The huts were built of stone and wood, and were built of stone and wood. The huts were built of stone and wood, and were built of stone and wood.

The first thing I saw when I stepped out of the hut was a view of the most beautiful scenery in the world. The country is so fertile that it is said to be the richest soil in the world, and the climate is so healthy that it is said to be the best in the world. The island is only 100 miles long, but it is so fertile that it is said to be the richest soil in the world, and the climate is so healthy that it is said to be the best in the world.
