PAINTING!
You can't afford to have anything but the best paint used upon your house, neither can you afford to have anyone but the best workmen apply it. Cheap paint means poor protection and frequent repainting, repairs and money wasted. Poor workmen means the same thing. We use Genuine White Lead and Linseed Oil because it makes the Best Paint which can be procured. Our workmanship is of a quality which can only come from years of practical painting experience. These two things combined will give you the best possible kind of a job. Will you not let us call and give you an estimate?

IT is pleasing to hear some of the kind words spoken of our High-Grade Printing.
Here are two of the latest tributes, which should interest every user of Good Printing:
The "Leader" Office.
"Gentlemen,—Let me express my entire satisfaction with the way you turned the cards and programmes out. The style and printing leave nothing to be desired, and when I want other printing done I certainly shall come to you. My first order, but not the last."
Yours faithfully,
M. L. C.
Messrs Whalley Bros.
"Dear Sirs,—I am prompted to write and tell you how much I appreciate the way you have printed our church report. It is a pleasure to pick it up, and I send it to my friends, several of whom are ministers, with a feeling of pride. Thank you. You deserve to succeed. I have seen many church reports, but few turned out in better taste and style."
Yours sincerely,

Birdwood's Boys

WINTERED ON THE SOMME. TROOPS WELL CARED FOR. DIFFICULTIES OVERCOME.

(By Special Representative of the Sydney "Sun").

London, January 18.

Our five divisions are not yet all together, though no one doubts they would fight to the last. They are being retrained in the new tactics of the Somme. The German Monarch's baby division is far north of the Somme, near Arras. The German Monarch's baby division is far north of the Somme, near Arras.

I would like to write that all is well with our men now, but they are not quite happy yet. They have been through a great deal of hardship and their spirits are not yet fully recovered.

The fight against sickness. It was not a fight against sickness or lowered morale. The Australian spirit is well known, his courage and determination.

This winter struggle has been a triumph, and before this letter reaches Australia our divisions will be thoroughly fit and eager for the decisive battles. They should be successful.

Birdwood's Way. One of the horrors of the Somme during these months has been the death, for Sir John's hand is clamped on them, and we cannot get out to bury them.

A Mystery Man

NICHOLAS SUMMED UP. CURSED, HATED AND LOVED. MORAL CONGLOMERATE DEFIES ASSAY.

In "Russia and the World," written in 1915 by Stephen Crane...

There has perhaps never been a period when Russia was more perfectly prosperous than at the present moment, or when the great majority of the people seemed to have so little obvious cause for discontent. And yet it would be futile to deny the unmistakable signs of discontent.

Reason of Revolt

PROSPERITY AND DISCONTENT. PROMISES NOT HONORED.

Everybody makes laws in Russia, and each is a law unto himself. For instance, the Minister of the Interior has the right to make them, so has the Minister of Finance...

What he terms "one of the few really beautiful things to which this war has given birth" is the subject of a descriptive article by M. Arno Foresti-Plourin in the "New York Herald" in the course of it he says:

Peace Man's Fight

"ADDRESSES" THE GERMANS. BOMBS IN TIGHT CORNER.

In an amusing letter from the front a soldier describes how a "peace man" was sent to the front to address the enemy. He found that he could not take any other course.

Ladies' Letter

The new materials threaten to be particularly expensive this season. Many well-known houses are asking as much as 19/- a yard for fabrics suitable for coats and skirts.

What's in a name? They ought to be pleased. The "three threes" in Saturday's race put us in mind of the "three nines" on the motor-car.

Fallen Among Amateurs

Mrs. Dill-Binkle was wearing the shortest of skirts, and the tallest of heels, the kind whose click is so particularly soothing to the suffering, and with something at her waist that looked like a rascally, only it wasn't a rascally one.

A Litany

(Hook of Common Prayer.) From battle and murder and from sudden death.

Good Lord, deliver us.

From the noble patriot who keeps his money in the bank, his grain in store, and his tongue in his cheek.

Good Lord, deliver us.

From the shining youth who is anxious to father the next generation but not game to fight for this one.

Good Lord, deliver us.

From the pious brother who grows fat on the spoils of the war, and loudly prays for Peace in the Church.

Good Lord, deliver us.

From the lapsed citizens who set the Dry Canteen above the British Empire.

Good Lord, deliver us.

From the sport who is always bawling "It's a long way to Tipperary" but keeps ever further away from the Collection Box.

Good Lord, deliver us.

From the critic who finds fault with our Navy and Army but has not enterprise enough to join the C.D.C.

Good Lord, deliver us.

From the Economist who gives nothing because Government ought to impose a Tax, yet knows that he has gone back to the trenches, for he was homesick for the trenches.

Good Lord, deliver us.

From the married man and fellow machine politician among the crying needs of the country. - Los Angeles "Times."

As an appreciation of the efforts of our fair enthusiasts, this comes from a dear Lady, I thank you for the socks - some fit!

Good Lord, deliver us.

I use one for a hammock, the other for a mit!

Good Lord, deliver us.

Some day I hope to meet you, when I have done my bit!

Good Lord, deliver us.

But in the meantime, tell me - Where the deuce you intend to knit?

Good Lord, deliver us.

They call it Plotzdam nowadays.

Good Lord, deliver us.

Unconscious humor in pieces of worship does not always come from the poet.

Good Lord, deliver us.

TOP OF THE MORNING. Top of the Morning's nose is off. It runs in the orchard, rough, all day.

Good Lord, deliver us.

Fighting the hens for a turn at the trough.

Good Lord, deliver us.

With a coat where the Wilshire mud has dried.

Good Lord, deliver us.

With a bunch of flint and a heart of gold.

Good Lord, deliver us.

With a bunch of flint and a heart of gold.

Good Lord, deliver us.

With a bunch of flint and a heart of gold.

Parson Tales

Some good parson stories are told in Mr. William T. Johnson's "Old Yarns of English Lakeland."

In one parish the people when they arrived at the church door found it shut. The clerk's message was: "This is to give notice that there will be no service in this church for a matter of four weeks, as the parson's horse has gotten herself in the pulpit."
