THE LEADER. JUSTICE TO ALL. PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY MORNING. SATURDAY, MAY 7. SEA POWER. "Britain's Naval Supremacy Lost" was one of the most prominent headlines in a leading morning daily last week, and was the result of the following report on the strength of the three greatest navies, as estimated in capital ships, would in 1925 be—U.S.A. 18, Japan 11, and Great Britain 5. It seemed a pretty bitter pill to swallow. The words "naval supremacy," added the article, were disappearing from the British vocabulary, and have been replaced by those of "sea security," the change being due to the heavy financial burden resulting from the war making it impossible to keep up to the ideal of the maintenance of a fleet equal to that of the combined strength of the navies of the United States and Japan.

MELBOURNE'S WATER SUPPLY.

FROM MOUNTAIN TO METRO-POLIS.

MARONDAH AND O'SHANNESSY SCHEMES VISITED. We in this great metropolis, when we want water for home or garden, or for any other purpose, simply turn the tap, and it flows at will.

How few of us give a thought when this precious fluid comes, and how these questions were considered for those who made the trip with Cr. Crisp, Preston's representative on the Metropolitan Board of Works, on Saturday last.

Leaving the shire hall by motor about 9 a.m. we made north along Plenty road as far as Greenborough lane, passing the village of that name, and through the picturesque old township of Eltham, Kangaroo Grounds, and Pantin Hill districts.

After a while the aqueduct is left, and a run is made for Yarra Junction, where dinner waits, and is duly welcomed at the Grand hotel.

The liner main refreshed, Healesville is headed for, and as we proceed for a couple of miles along the "Spar" road a new feature is observed in the direction of the north-west.

Returning through Healesville we pass along rich river flats said to be owned by the late Mr. Tudeley, and into the Yarra valley. There are near and distant views of forest and mountain.

The Challenge—An Appeal for Soldiers' Memorial. God, give us a monument cold and stark somewhere in a city environment; Let them who wear the uniform of the dark. Oh! take from their souls the God! sharpen their teeth that with zeal they may the fruits of their silent drave. And let them forget "mid the jazz and the mention of soldier's grave. God we are dead; they are free in body but not in soul. Their ships ride safe on the open sea, because we wear the uniform of the dark. God give them black men, brown men, Chinamen, ring-men, cinema aliens too. Their own men, brave men,—dead Australian men. Who wants the boys who saw the job through?
