Unemployment Figures Show Decline

According to the figures furnished by the sustenance office at the Town Hall, there has been an appreciable decline in unemployment during the past 12 months. The decline has been more noticeable since October last.

In March 1939 there were 261 men registered, but of the number 26 were employed on relief work. The figures for last month show 186 on the books, 17 of whom are on relief work. Whilst no seasonable work has been available it is thought that many have absorbed a number of men. It may be the case, but it might be safe to presume that the war will be the reason for the decline is the war.

It might be found that some have joined the 2nd A.I.F., or the Air Force, whilst others are doing garrison duty.

In view of the prosperous condition, the unemployment register should not be even as high as it is.

The tender of L. J. Goldsworthy for £985/11/11 for construction of lane [illegible] will run off south side of Arthurton Rd., between High St and Helen St., with branches to Helen St, was accepted by the Northcote Council at its meeting on Monday.

Vale The Cable Trams!

Memories Of Olden Days

[Illegible] the following story from the Age.

SOME time this month the Spencer St. to Northcote cable tram cars will cease running, to be replaced by double-decker motor omnibuses. The line runs from Spencer St. to Northcote, one of the longest cable tramways.

It is only a few years since the Northcote tramway was a separate line, running from the railway line at Clifton Hill, where the tramways from the city terminated. With the growth of road traffic, the railway line was raised, and a bridge built across the roadway at the foot of High St. leading to Rucker's Hill. Before the bridge was built, the tramway passed through railway gates. Now that the tramway is to be replaced by double-decker buses, it has been found that the bridge is not high enough to allow them to pass underneath; so the roadway is being lowered in order to give the buses head room.

The passing of the old cable trams [illegible] was [illegible] recalled many pleasant and some [illegible] using memories to an ex-employee of [illegible] the old Northcote Tramway Co. About [illegible] 50 years ago when the trams [illegible]

[illegible] was closed.

After being idle for some years, the [illegible] and the section with [illegible] was again started by Mr. [illegible] The Northcote Council [illegible] and the section with [illegible] and necessitated [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

HEIDELBERG SPORTS MEETING OFFERS IDEAL E

WAR COMFORTS FUND TO BENEFIT

Ideal Transport And Picnic Facilities

NEXT Monday, April 8, Victoria will celebrate the time-honored 8 Hours Day holiday. Doubtless many Northcote residents will avail themselves of the opportunity to visit the neighbouring suburb of Heidelberg and spend a pleasant day at the Heidelberg Athletic Club's Annual Sports Meeting. This year there is the added inducement to attend that the net proceeds are to go to the War Comforts Funds.

This meeting is extremely popular [illegible] as it affords spectators an opportunity [illegible] lists competing in the various events listed for decision, and also presents the chance for the family to make a real picnic day of it at Warringal Park, beautifully situated on the banks of the Yarra. Another factor in its popularity with Northcote residents is the fact that excellent bus services link the two suburbs.

The Club has made excellent catering arrangements for the day and the public will find every facility at the park for its [illegible]

Heidelberg Gift Principal Event

J. J. Hawkins Fancied To Win Open Half Mile

ALWAYS a closely contested event the Heidelberg Gift of £25 and Cash presented by the Club's President, Mr. H. Scott, numbers amongst its winners some of the best foot runners this State has seen.

This year it will be no exception and the handicapper, Mr. J. Schafe, has a difficult task in selecting the winner. A close examination of the various pedestrians and their form inclines us to favor J. Hawkins who will run at the meeting. This lad performed creditably at Stawell during Easter and again at Bendigo. He is fast and should win. Our next choice is the local boy [illegible] professional athlete.

Visit By Archbishop Of Melbourne

THE heavy (though very welcome) rain probably prevented many people from venturing out on Sunday morning last but in spite of the inclement conditions A few children and nearly a hundred adults were present at the morning service at St. James, Newcastle St. Anglican Church on the occasion of the visit of the Archbishop of Melbourne (Dr. Head) when His Grace gave an appropriate Easter message.

Cr. W. Oliver J.P. read the lessons and prayers and a full choir sang joyful hymns, which greatly assisted in making all thankful they were privileged to be present.

Northcote Chamber of Commerce Community Singers' Bay Picnic

The annual excursion of the combined Community Singers was held on Sunday last per P.S. 'Weroona' to Queenscliff. The outing attracted at big crowd and was quite as enjoyable as in former years, despite inclement weather. The outing was held in aid of Blamey House Funds, and it is hoped to donate quite a large sum to this worthy institution. A detailed account will appear in our next issue when returns will be complete.

A Nonagerian Is Honored

A CELEBRATION of unusual character marked the occasion of the ninetieth anniversary of the birthday of Mrs. A. Eastman, of Penders St, Thornbury, widow of the late Mr. Thomas Eastman, late of Northcote. The re-union took place on March 30. The family consisting of 11 children —seven daughters and four sons— met for the first time in 23 years; some coming from Perth, Sydney, Shepparton, and Geelong.

After partaking of an excellent tea extracts from a diary of 40 years ago were read, which evoked much merriment and interest, as past memories of early days in the Goulburn Valley were recalled. Later the toast of "Our Mother" was proposed by the youngest son, Rc. E. A. Eastman, of Sydney. He extolled the glory of ideal motherhood, of which he declared there was a living example in their mother. Providence had been most generous in the long life granted to her, and this was also manifest in the fact that the 11 children born were all living, the eldest in his 70th year.

Mrs. Eastman, senior, expressed herself as being overjoyed with the opportunity of being present with her family and to receive the expression of their affection.

The descendants of Mrs. Eastman number 36 grandchildren living—18 grandsons and 18 granddaughters and 27 great grandchildren, who it is hoped will all meet for a picnic in the near future.

OLD RUSE

NORTHCOTE AND PRESTON CHURCHES A GRADE FINAL

Once again South Preston Methodists and Westgarth Baptists are the teams to contest the premiership of the Northcote and Preston Churches A Grade Association, the match being played at McDonell Park, Northcote. The game was commenced on Easter Monday, when South Preston, batting first, were dismissed for the very small total of 101. Westgarth then batted, and South Preston bowlers, rising to the occasion, dismissed last year's premiers for 90, Hill bating excellently for 45. Bowling honors were shared between Cleland 5/29 and McDonald 4/24.

The game was continued last Saturday when South Preston made 190, Kaufman making 35 n.o., and Dunn [illegible]. The Eighth wicket partnership of Kaufman and L. Bott (run out for 17) was responsible for 52 runs. Westgarth require 202 to annex another premiership. At 5 o'clock, after three wickets had fallen, they appeared, against the light, and there was no wickets had fallen for 52 they appeared, which is in a most interesting stage, will be continued next Saturday.

LOW SCORING IN SUB-DISTRICT FINAL

After their fine displays during the season, Preston Seconds' batting failure in the final match against Coburg, on the Brichten ground came as a great disappointment to their supporters. Against Preston's 95 (Marotte 24, Underhill 18 n.o., Doherty 11, Dickens 11, Robinson 10; Denison 5/37, Carter 3/30, Johnson 1/120) Coburg lost 102 (Young 48 n.o., Ryan 24; Marotte 3/34, Dineen 3/51.)

FOOTBALL

After the first practice match Saturday when bags weighted with stones were used as scalpers [illegible] Northcote Park oval, Bill Liddle, the coach of Northcote, expressed himself as well satisfied with the new material offering. "Never do I remember practice matches being played under more distressing conditions. It was one of the worst days I ever remember from a football viewpoint, the ground being as hard as flint and the atmosphere charged with dust in a south-easterly north wind."

Promising men were shown in B. Deason (rover), Ross Todd (centre half-back), Brian McMahon (centre half-forward), and D. Kearns (wing) in the second and third [illegible] match.

Crunches [illegible]

Fleming (Secondary [illegible] rovers, whilst with a [illegible] ndidco were Frank Kelly (Werribee), and Les Hodgkinson (Melbourne).

McCracke, Simpson Hiscox and Hay of the old players showed [illegible]

Supporters of the club will be disappointed at the [illegible] fighting out the finish this season. Whilst there is sound [illegible] argument that the Association [illegible] do not want to be bothered with [illegible] our League players, it seems that a number of League players, especially Todd, the crack Collingwood full forward, are going over to the Association. Naturally one asks the question "What for?"

It is rather too early yet to form an opinion of Northcote's prospects, but they promise, when moulded together, to be a formidable [illegible]

Double Decker Buses In High St. Soon

"The Old Order Changeth, Giving Place To The New"

Revolutionary changes in passenger transport are scheduled to take place in High St. Northcote, and from Spencer St. Melbourne to Dundas St. Preston, about the 13th inst when the old cable trams will disappear and the new double decker motor buses will take their place.

ANTIPATHY to the new order of things becomes less pronounced as time goes on, and perhaps residents will find the innovation will make for smoother and more comfortable transport than is the case at present. The buses look unwieldy. They are by the dark grey in color, but many attractive features are hidden under a rough exterior and intending passengers would be well advised to suspend criticism until they have tested the service.

Some people have an aversion to double deckers. They have advantages in some respects, one of which, officials of the Tramways Board point out, will be the "splendid view passengers will be able to obtain of the vantage points of the city."

A number of present drivers and conductors on the cable trams will do duty on the new buses, whilst others will be transferred to other routes.

In future, when one hears the new means of locomotion referred to as "D.D." it will not know these mystic letters stand for "double decker" and are not some new form of profanity or military title.

Unemployment Figures Show Decline

According to the figures furnished by the assistance office at the Town Hall, there has been an appreciable decline in unemployment during the past 12 months. The decline has been more noticeable since October last.

In March 1939 there were 201 men registered, but of the number 96 were engaged on relief work. The figure for last month show 136 on the books, 47 of whom are on relief work. Whilst seasonable work has been available it might have absorbed a number of men, but it might be safe to presume that the reason for the decline is the war. It might be found that some have joined the 2nd A.I.F., or the Air Force, whilst others are doing garrison duty. In view of the prosperous condition, the unemployment register should not be even as high as it is.

The tender of L. J. Goldsworthy for CSG/11/11 for construction of lane off south side of Arthurton Rd, between High St. and Helen St, with branches to Helen St. was accepted by the Northcote Council at its meeting on Monday.

What This Fine Organisation Is Doing

The Northcote Group of the R.S.S.I.L.A. War Service Fund is composed of members of the Sub-Branch and Ladies' Committee and parents and wives of the men who have enlisted for service abroad. Mr. H. policy of the group to concentrate on NAMES OF RELATIVES REQUIRED cash donations, the reason being that the Director of the 1914-18 war realises that cash can be used to greater advantage for the benefit of the troops. There is an urgent need for cigarettes and tobacco, and gifts of these will be appreciated.

Executive members of the Northcote Branch are anxious that relatives of soldiers who have enlisted for service abroad should forward their names and addresses to the Memorial Hall if they have not already done so.

WEST WARD PROGRESS ASSOCIATION

HOLDS ITS FIRST MEETING

Appointment Of Collector Discussed

At the first general meeting of members of the West Ward Progress Association, the President (Mr. T. J. McMahon J.P.) reported that the committee had gone into the matter of appointing an organiser-collector, but nothing definite had yet been decided. The man they had in mind had offered to carry out the duties on a 50-50 division of monies collected, and had also stipulated that these conditions applied to the subscriptions for 1941.

The committee had decided that it could not accept any responsibility in this direction because there might be a new set of officials next year. It had been decided to let the general meeting make a decision.

The appointment of a collector would be a step in the right direction, as the membership would thereby be built up considerably.

Cr. W. Findlay moved and Mr. Tyrrell seconded a motion which found no dissentients, that Mr. Prosser be appointed collector at a remuneration of 25 per cent on all monies collected by him.

RULES ADOPTED

A set of rules was submitted to the meeting, and with a few additions was adopted. These provide that any office-bearer of the association seeking a seat in the municipal council shall immediately resign his office.

MEMBERS' CO-OPERATION APPRECIATED

When several matters relating to West Ward requirements were brought forward the Mayor of Northcote (Cr. A. S. Reid) said these matters would be attended to. He could assure the Association the West Ward councillors regard to the latter, Cr. Findlay said that it was mostly sustenance men who had been employed on this kind of work. As the number available had been recently reduced, it might mean that other streets had been allocated. Nevertheless, arrangements were being made to get some work done on the streets.

NORMANBY AV. BRIDGE

In reply to inquiries, Mr. McCANN said the Mayor said he was hopeful the necessary steps for the construction of the proposed Normanby Av. bridge would be made available before the summer closely. Come Deputy Minister on the Metropolitan Board, had taken the matter up, and this was a possibility that the bridge would be done by the end of the year.

Mr. Bourke moved and Mr. Ingram seconded a motion that Mr. Prosser be asked to use his influence with the Minister of the Metropolitan Board of Works to have the bridge constructed as soon as possible.

DUTIES IN LANES

Mr. McCANN referred to the absence of the lanes, and said that the Council had no power to compel residents to remove rubbish from the lanes. It would, however, be possible to have the matter brought before the Health Department, and he would do so.

Mr. Bourke moved and Mr. Ingram seconded a motion that Mr. Prosser be asked to bring the matter before the Health Department.

Mr. Bourke moved and Mr. Ingram seconded a motion that the Council be asked to have the lanes cleaned.

Water Service Extension. — Water mains are to be extended by the Board of Works in Leinster Gr. north of Emmaline St.

Mr. L. S. Middleway wrote re paths in Harry St.; and ten residents of Dixon St. complained of state of roadway in that street.—These matters were referred to the P.W. committee, and in addition the West Ward councillors were asked to report.

Cr. Findlay said that an application by D. F. Reid to operate a motor bus from Clarendon St. to Flinders St has been reconsidered by the Metropolitan Transport Committee.

COST FREE PUBLIC FINANCE

NORTHCOTE COUNCIL TO SEEK

A matter which may have a vast bearing on public finance methods was raised at the meeting of the Northcote Council on Monday night. It was pointed out by Mr. Whyte that the Commonwealth Bank had the power to create cost-free credit for public works, and after some discussion the council decided to approach its Federal Member to ask that the powers of the Commonwealth Bank in this direction be exercised.

THE letter was received from a few years, it would be £3m. Mr. A. Whyte, of Northcote, million a year. Sooner or later stating that instead of the council the burden would be so great that raising a loan of £7,000 as at a state would be reached when present proposed, the council it would be either a matter of should approach the Common- repudiation or revolution. Britain, wealth Bank for the provision of he said, was creating fiduciary interest free money, which it was contended, could be made available under the constitution, for public works, etc.

Cr. Gray moved: (a)—That it is the opinion of this Council the national credit of the Commonwealth should be used in the interests of defence, primary industries, and the general welfare of the people of Australia.

(b)—That this resolution be forwarded to Mr. F. Brennan, the Federal Member for the district, requesting him to bring the matter under the notice of the Government with a view to implementing the principle expressed in Section 59i of the Royal Commission on Banking.

Cr. Gray continued that the interest bill of the Commonwealth Government was now £50 millionation, which was carried by a vote a year, and if the war went on forto 6.

DO YOU FEEL LIVERISH?

The liver's chief job is to send 2 pints of bile juice into the bowels each day. If this important organ becomes sluggish in action, due perhaps to over-eating or changeable weather, bile does not flow freely—digestion is impaired—food stagnates in the stomach resulting in sick headaches, bad breath, nasty taste in the mouth, constipation, in general—biliousness. There is no need to put up with these symptoms though a bottle of a remarkably effective liver stimulant called "Prescription No. 15," obtainable at 2/6 only from R. Eymer, Ph.C., M.P.S., 759 High St., Thornbury, will quickly restore the system to its normal healthy state again. Ring JW1031 for friendly service.

Colorful.... WEDDINGS IN NORTHCOTE CHURCHES

Four generations were represented at the marriage of Mr. David Vernon and Miss Elsie Moore at St. James's Church, Thornbury, on Saturday March 23. From left to right: Mrs. J. Whitehead (aunt of the bride), the bridegroom, the bride, Betty Goodwin, Mrs. Roberts (grandmother) and Mrs. Goodwin (cousin).

The contracting parties come from Tasmania and Mirboo North respectively. The bride was given away by Mr. Eric Moore and the officiating clergyman was Rev. J. Kessel-Taylor. The groom's present to the bride was a squirrel coat and to the bridesmaid a crystal powder bowl. The Church was decorated with Easter daisies and gladioli. The service was fully choral and an arch of asparagus fern with wedding bells occupied a conspicious position. The bridesmaid, Miss Hazel Isley, was gowned in an old world frock of appliqued marquisette and she carried green hydrangeas.

WHITE SILK CHANTILLY LACE

TAGGART — WHITE

THE Methodist Church, High St. Northcote, was beautifully decorated for the wedding on March 14, of Lillian Mary, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James White, of Hawthorn Rd. Northcote, to Stanley Gordon, younger son of Mr. A. G. Taggart and the late Mrs. Taggart, of Centennial Ave. West Brunswick. The Rev. A. E. Davey officiated. During the signing of the register, Mr. J. Toone sang "Because."

The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. A. G. Taggart, wore a gown of white silk Chantilly lace over taffetas, with a heart-shaped neckline caught with sprays of orange blossom and miniature lilies, the skirt extending to form a train. Her triple finger-tip veil of white tulle was surmounted by a topknot of white camellias, and a shower bouquet of water lilies and frangipanni was carried.

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Taggart, wore a frock of powder blue georgette over taffetas with pin-tucked bodice and puffed sleeves and a full circular skirt. A top-knot of blue camellias held her shoulder-length veil of blue tulle to her hair, and she carried a bouquet of pink gladioli and blue delphiniums.

The best man was Mr. Harold Wilson.

EARLY VICTORIAN GOWN

LOVEJOY — CARPENTER

THE Church of Christ, Northcote, was the setting on Tuesday evening March 19 for the marriage of Miss Emily Carpenter and Mr. Kenneth Charles Lovejoy. The bride was given away by her father and Mr. Atkin performed the ceremony.

The bride's Early Victorian gown was of white stiffened lace. A veil of net over tulle was caught to her head by a coronet of lily of the valley, and she carried an old world bouquet of white gladioli and lily of the valley.

Miss Sadie Craven attended the bride and wore a pink frock made on similar lines to the bride's gown. Pink gladioli and roses formed her bouquet. Mr. Alf Carpenter, brother of the bride, attended the groom.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Carpenter, of Darebin Rd. Thornbury, and the groom is the second son of Mrs. Lovejoy, Herts. Watford, England.

A reception was later held at which over 50 guests were entertained.

OFF-WHITE BROCADED SATIN

TRIFFIT — CARTER

A BEAUTIFUL gown of off-white brocaded satin was worn by Miss Jessie Eileen Carter when she became the wife of Mr. George Edward Triffit, at Holy Trinity Church, Thornbury, on Saturday, March 23. A topknot of gardenias held her tulle veil in place and Easter lilies rested on her arm.

Her twin sister Violet and Miss Hilda Triffit were in attendance and were frocked in eau-de-nil green crinkle chiffon with deep cyclamen velvet sashes.

The bride is the twin daughter of Mr. J. Carter, of Jenkins St. Northcote, and the late Mrs. Carter and the groom, who was attended by Mr. William Triffitt and Mr. Kenneth Kirk, of Ballarat, is the youngest son of Mrs. and Mrs. W. C. Triffitt, Brunswick.

The Rev. R. D. Pratt performed the ceremony.

Visit By Archbishop Of Melbourne

THE heavy (though very welcome) rain probably prevented many people from venturing out on Sunday morning last but in spite of the inclement conditions a few children and nearly a hundred adults were present at the morning service at St. James, Newcastle St. Anglican Church on the occasion of the visit of the Archbishop of Melbourne (Dr. Head) when His Grace gave an appropriate Easter message.

Cr. W. Olver J.P. read the lessons and prayers and a full choir sang joyful hymns, which greatly assisted in making all thankful they were privileged to be present.

Northcote Chamber of Commerce Community Singers' Bay Picnic

The annual excursion of the combined Community Singers was held on Sunday last per P.S. 'Weeroona' to Queenscliff. The outing attracted at big crowd and was quite as enjoyable as in former years, despite inclement weather. The outing was held in aid of Blamey House Funds, and it is hoped to donate quite a large sum to this worthy institution. A detailed account will appear in our next issue when returns will be complete.

A Nonagerian Is Honored

A CELEBRATION of unusual character marked the occasion of the ninetieth anniversary of the birthday of Mrs. A. Eastman, of Penders St. Thornbury, widow of the late Mr. Thomas Eastman, late of Northcote. The re-union took place on March 30. The family consisting of 11 children —seven daughters and four sons— met for the first time in 23 years some coming from Perth, Sydney, Shepparton, and Geelong.

After partaking of an excellent tea extracts from a diary of 40 years ago were read, which evoked much merriment and interest, as past memories of early days in the Goulburn Valley were recalled. Later the toast of "Our Mother" was proposed by the youngest son, Rev. E. A. Eastman, of Sydney. He extolled the glory of ideal motherhood, of which he declared there was a living example in their mother. Providence had been most generous in the long life granted to her, and this was also manifest in the fact that the 11 children born were all living, the eldest in his 70th year.

Mrs. Eastman, senior, expressed herself as being overjoyed with the opportunity of being present with her family and to receive the expression of their affection.

The descendants of Mrs. Eastman number 36 grandchildren living—18 grandsons and 18 granddaughters and 27 great grandchildren, who it is hoped will all meet for a picnic in the near future.

After they had dismissed Church of Christ for [illegible] 50, they appeared [illegible] the match well within their [illegible]. South Preston decided [illegible] follow-on rule. Once again South Preston Methodists and Westgarth Baptists are the teams to contest the premiership of the Northcote and Preston Churches A Grade Association, the match being played at McDonell Park, Northcote. Bowling honors were shared between Cleland 5/29 and McDonald 4/24.

The game was continued last Saturday when South Preston made 196. Kaufman making 35 n.o., and Dunn 33. The eighth wicket partnership of Kaufman and L. WOMEN'S HOSPITAL AUXILIARY CHRISTMAS AFTERNOON

— There was an excellent attendance at the card afternoon organised by the Women's Hospital Red Cross Auxiliary, the members of which have done wonderful work covering a number of years. The President (Mrs. S. Beard) and the hon. secretary (Mrs. A. W. Hedley) had made excellent arrangements, and the Mayoress (Mrs. A. C. Bird) was also present. The prizes were donated hon. secretary (Mrs. A. W. Hedley), Clayton and R. Hocking. Mrs. McMahon won the card competition, and the lucky ticket to Mrs. Hocking. Mr. Duncan acted as the lucky and Mr. J. A. Thomson held the lucky number. Mrs. Dennis expressed her appreciation of the large attendance, and stated that similar functions would be held on the fourth Thursday of each month. The prizes were handed over by the Mayoress.

Northcote Council's Gift To Soldiers

We reproduce herewith a photograph of the Northcote Council's gift to soldiers from this district. The gifts took the form of a polished steel matchbox and a steel polished mirror in a neat morocco leather case. The matchbox has the council monogram on the front, with the name and rank of the soldier on the side.

FOOTBALL

After the first practice game last Saturday when bags weighted with stones were used as goalposts on the Northcote Park oval, Bill Libbis, the coach of Northcote, expressed himself as well satisfied with the new material offering. "Never do I remember practice matches being played under more distressing conditions. It was one of the worst days I ever remember from a football viewpoint, the grounds being as hard as flint and the atmosphere charged with dust in a sweltering north wind."

Promising men were shown in B. Denson (rover), Ross Todd (centre half-back), Brian McMahon (centre half-forward), and D. Kearns (wing) in the second and third eighteens match.

Cranaghan (Corowa) and Snowy Fleming (Sreenda) caught the eye as rovers, while others to come under notice were Frank Kelly (Warrnambool), and Les Hendrie (Seconds).

Meltzke, Simpson, Hiscox and Hart of the old players showed out best.

Supporters of the club will be very disappointed if the team is not seen [illegible] out the finish this season. Whilst there is sound sense in the argument that the Association clubs do not want to be bothered with burning out League players, it seems that a number of League players, especially Todd, the crack Collingwood full forward, are going down to the Association. Naturally one asks the question: "What for?"

It is rather too early yet to form an opinion of Northcote's strength, but they promise, when moulded together, to be a formidable side.

SWIMMING

All Junior Championships—Preston swimmers annexed a fair number of prizes at the all-junior swimming championships, decided at Richmond baths on Saturday.

In the freestyle events, W. Brooks was third in the boys under 5, and Clement was first and first in the race for boys under 11; and W. Brooks was in the girls under 12.

...N MILLS RAPID ADVANCE : SECRETS OF "SEALED SILK

From time immemorial the product of the lowly silkworm has been spun into ... tapestries, coverings and clothing for the human race. History records ... skill and industry of early Eastern weavers and of all the treasures from ... Orient none were more valued than their silken ware.

To-day, with centuries of ceaseless development and the coming of the indus... machine age, how changed is the scene. At the mills of Hilton Hosiery, in Bruns... are amazing machines, casually accepted, that take the fragile silken thread and ... weave its gossamer lightness into the sheerest stockings to grace Milady's ... in short to "Gild the Lily."

Perhaps the most outstanding feature in the manufacture of Hilton Hosiery is the use of what is known as the "Sealed Silk" process, exclusive in Australia to Hilton. The manufacturers claim that this process, the details of which are naturally secret, is a scientific discovery which literally seals the original strength of the pure silk and ensures considerably longer wear to the finished hosiery. In addition to this, "Sealed Silk" hosiery has beauty, clarity and extra dullness which ordinary stockings cannot equal.

In marketing their Hosiery, the Hilton Company have adopted the modern practice of packing each pair of stockings in an individual box. Modern, colorful and distinctive box designs have also been employed, for it is a recognised fact that even the finest quality products must be presented to the buyer in the most attractive way.

A clear indication of the success of the Hilton Hosiery Co. can be gained from the fact that during the last two and a half years they have trebled their original production. Such progress will undoubtedly continue as the years go by because the right manufacturing methods, fine quality products at the right prices and a sound marketing scheme must reap the reward of success.

FLAG DAY APPEAL

Realises Only £46

Northcote's quota has been set down [illegible] £1740 in connection with the Lord Mayor of Melbourne's appeal for £100,000 for Red Cross purposes, but the result of the sale of flags in Northcote last week can be accepted as criticism, there is going to be disappointment at the amount raised locally. Only the pitiful sum of £46 was realised from the sale of flags by a small but enthusiastic body of ladies who touched every avenue in the time at their disposal, and who are to be commended for their efforts.

Both the Mayor (Cr. A. C. Birds) and the Mayoress expressed the view that as the volunteers forthcoming to sell the flags had been so very few in number, [illegible] anything in the way of a substantial [illegible] be expected.

COMMUNITY SINGERS' BAY TRIP

PROFITS FOR BLAMEY HOUSE

The financial results of the recent Community Singers' bay excursion are most gratifying. The organisers, Mr. Hilton Dixon reports that £19/7/ is available towards the funds of Blamey House, which is doing valuable work in caring for homeless soldiers on leave in Melbourne. Those who attended the picnic certainly enjoyed themselves, for all sang lustily under the guidance of Eric Tiley. Sheet and community singing, the latter supplying vocal solos, made up the delight of the assemblage. George possesses a gloriously mellow tenor voice and good it to all hearing it was a privilege on board the "Weeroona". The accompanists were Miss Ruth Daly, who particularly was the accompanying artiste and rendered piano solos which were thoroughly appreciated. The weather was perfect, and the trip was voted a most enjoyable one.

NEW ROYAL MELB. HOSPITAL APPEAL

CARD PARTY IN EVERY STREET

The Mayoress of Northcote (Mrs. A. C. Birch) has consented to sponsor an appeal in this city to raise funds for the New Royal Melbourne Hospital. The first effort will be to take part in the card party drive which is being undertaken in the metropolitan area on the afternoon and evening of May 14 next, when the aim is to arrange a card party in every street. This will mean that one person or a group of persons in any street would act as hostesses and invite neighbors and friends to join them. It will be seen that this scheme, if taken up, will raise a considerable sum. The size of the ordinary house may not be considered sufficient to accommodate many tables, but the scheme provides for as many tables will be required.

NORTHCOTE CLUB'S GESTURE

OLD PLAYERS v. RECRUITS

Drive For Members— Draper's £10 Wager

With every prospect of fielding one of the best sides for many years, the club is making a drive for increased local support. Such a drive should not be necessary, as the Club's splendid record should ensure a plentiful membership.

Those investing in membership tickets are assured of economic buying into Australia's brightest football club. And at the same time they can feel sure that their money will not be wasted in buying and paying a share in [illegible] of "Broken-down" League [illegible]

Therefore, when next in High St., call at the store which secures your [illegible] cash or lay-by. Praise is due to Mr. Rowlands for the splendid spirit [illegible] and drive he is giving to the club.

A RETIRING M.M.B.W. OFFICER

Tribute To Mr. W. Alderton

(contributed)

On and after April 23 Northcote district residents will miss a familiar face from their midst, the face of one who has been a most unassuming functionary about their water and sewer defects. And what a busy man he was when he knocked on the door to say "I am from the M.M.B.W., Madam and I am sorry to say your water service pipe is broken." He has made this remark many a time in the 25 years during which he has been walking round our fair city, with always a cheery smile for everyone. It was never too much trouble for him to do any favor. I have often been in his company and he would say "See that lady with the [illegible] and black [illegible] children." Often he has helped them over the road to school. Many mothers in Northcote District to-day were just babies in arms when he first came amongst us. And after walking the city day after day, often Sundays four to 25 years. I am sure we will all join in wishing Mr. W. Alderton, of 27 Rathmines St., Fairfield, and his good wife and family the continuity of their good health and happiness in their future when he retires on April 23, after completing 52 years with the M.M.B.W. He started as a 12-year-old lad at Mernda during the Melbourne Water Works regime. He was the man with the hurricane lamp and other necessaries ought dear his shoulder who called past your house at night, and stood in the middle of the road waving a red lamp to keep you away from a danger sign that a burst 14in main could be. He was the steamy man who told the tree to the young couple in Epping Park one morning when there was a burst in a big main over there. [illegible] he has been followed by a couple [illegible] who were during his inspection [illegible] Mr. Alderton's many friends [illegible] a "responsible-looking character [illegible]

Mr. Alderton's workfellows, the [illegible] and many associates in Northcote City will work hard to [illegible] with him all the rest of his years [illegible] a healthy, [illegible] and contented [illegible] in retirement in the closing days of a [illegible] and [illegible] life.

Northcote Council Thanked

(To the Editor.)

Sir,—May I, through your columns, express my sincere appreciation to the Northcote Council for making it possible for the citizens of Northcote to enjoy the privileges of attending University Extension Board lectures at the Town Hall every Tuesday in conjunction with the Workers' Educational Association? This move on the part of the Council is supplying a very necessary element to the community, as in these days of war and its accompanying passions, nothing is more essential than clear thinking, and this is one of the chief aims of the W.E.A., aimed at its members. As free discussion is one of the main features leading up to clear thinking, what could be better than starting off with a public speaking class?

My sincere wish is that the citizens of Northcote will realise the opportunity that the council have made possible for them, so that in the near future the demand will be, not for one class, but for many. Yours etc.,

MYRTLE FLETCHER
14 James St, Northcote, April 6.

COST FREE PUBLIC FINANCE

(To the Editor.)

Sir,—I think Mr. Gray should be congratulated for his efforts in trying to relieve ratepayers of some of their burdens. It takes a man with courage to put forward suggestions like that. A vote should be made of the six councillors who voted against the motion. The latter part of Paragraph A reads "and the general welfare of the people of Australia," maybe, if the people thought for themselves, do away with a lot of the hatred at present existing in the world. Yours etc.,

"WAKE UP"

SILKWORM TO STOCKING

ECONOMIC IMPORTANCE OF HOSIERY MILLS

HILTON MILLS RAPID ADVANCE : SECRETS OF "SEALED SILK"

From time immemorial the product of the lowly silkworm has been spun into garments, tapestries, coverings and clothing for the human race. History records the amazing skill and industry of early Eastern weavers and of all the treasures from the fabulous East none were more valued than their silken wares.

To-day, with centuries of ceaseless development and the coming of the industrial machine age, how changed is the scene. At the mills of Hilton Hosiery, in Brunswick, are amazing machines, casually accepted, that take the fragile silken thread and spin and weave its gossamer lightness into the sheerest stockings to grace Milady's legs, in short to "Gild the Lily."

In Victoria to-day hosiery mills are an important economic factor in the prosperity of the State. Employing thousands of operators in their factories and affording indirect employment to printers, carton manufacturers, box makers and many other allied trades they directly keep many breadwinners in work.

The men who control the destinies of the Hilton Mills have not been content, however, to simply go along on routine lines. They wanted something different — research was entered into, industrial chemists and leading technicians consulted, months of experiment followed and finally "Sealed Silk" resulted. By this ingenious process, exclusive to the Hilton Hosiery Co., a sealing method is employed and the original silken strength is literally locked in; resulting in much greater all round service.

EXACTLY three years ago this month, the Hilton Hosiery Co. was incorporated as a limited proprietary company. Eight months later, that is in July, 1937, production was commenced in a new and completely modern factory at Albion Street, West Brunswick, Melbourne.

Two and a half years of trading has now culminated in the firm establishment of a successful and progressive business which has every indication of greater growth in the years to come.

Due to the comparative youthfulness of the organisation, the plant is the most modern of its kind in Australia. In fact, the Company utilises a number of the latest machines which no other hosiery factory has yet installed.

As further evidence of the modern facilities incorporated at the Hilton Factory, an air-conditioning scheme operates throughout the plant. This innovation, whilst greatly improving working conditions for the staff, has, in addition, an important bearing on the manufacture of hosiery. The establishment of an even temperature and controlled relative humidity has a noticeable effect on knitting process and is reflected in the finished product.

Perhaps the most outstanding feature in the manufacture of Hilton Hosiery is the use of what is known as the "Sealed Silk" process, exclusive in Australia to Hilton. The manufacturers claim that this process, the details of which are naturally secret, is a scientific discovery which literally seals the original strength of the pure silk and ensures considerably longer wear to the finished hosiery. In addition to this, "Sealed Silk" hosiery has beauty, clarity and extra dullness which ordinary stockings cannot equal.

In marketing their Hosiery, the Hilton Company have adopted the modern practice of packing each pair of stockings in an individual box. Modern, colorful and distinctive box designs have also been employed, for it is a recognised fact that even the finest quality products must be presented to the buyer in the most attractive way.

A clear indication of the success of the Hilton Hosiery Co. can be gained from the fact that during the last two and a half years they have trebled their original production. Such progress will undoubtedly continue as the years go by because the right manufacturing methods, fine quality products at the right prices and a sound marketing scheme must reap the reward of success.

Traders' Requests To Council

To the meeting of the Northcote Council on Monday, requests were received from the Thornbury Traders' Association as follows: (1)—for a reduction in electricity charges to operate advertising signs; (2)—that a "Stop" warning sign be placed at the intersection of High and Dundas Sts; (3)—urging that the traffic inspector be provided with a uniform.

In regard to the first request, Cr. French said that Northcote's electricity charges were the lowest permitted by the State Electricity Commission, and consequently no reduction could be given. There was however, no second-hand sign to his motion that the writers be so informed, and on the motion of Crs. Peters and Dennis the matter was referred to the Electric Light committee.

In regard to the second item, Cr. Gray said Miller St was a major street, and a lot of people had been penalised for not stopping before crossing Miller St, and many had been fined.

Cr. Peters said there was a danger in that a motor car was travelling along Miller St, and a motor bus was coming south along High St, a tram would be on a car before the driver was aware of it. He felt that the trams should be "stamped" across the paper. This matter was referred to the P.W. committee, the officers to confer with Preston officers.

In regard to the third matter that the traffic inspector be put into uniform, the was referred to the P.W. committee.

The Northcote Chamber of Commerce sought the provision of additional waste-paper baskets in High St — Referred to P.W. committee on the motion of Crs. French and Shewan.

HEALTH CENTRE WELFARE CLUB

An enthusiastic audience thoroughly enjoyed the "Travel Talk" generously sponsored by Mrs. Bean on April 11. Many fine views of other countries were shown, and of particular interest were those much similar to the district in which many Australians are at present stationed.

CIVIC SERVICE

A civic service will be held at the High St. Methodist Church, Northcote, on Sunday, May 19 at 7 p.m., to which the Mayor, Councillors and officers of the City of Northcote have been invited. Together with their wives. The preacher will be Rev. A. E. Davey.

Star Of Northcote I.O.R.

The fortnightly meeting on April 4 was well attended, Bro. R. Stirling presiding. Several invitations were received, and details re transport will be given at next meeting. The bowls team won the premiership of the Northern Districts Competition for the third year in succession. During this period they have maintained an unbeaten record. Bro. R. Lobbe, on behalf of the Croxton Junior Test, presented half of the Croxton Junior Test, presented to the tent the Samuel Mauger Shield won by his juniors for having transferred the most members to the senior tent during the past year. All junior tents reported steady progress. Final arrangements were made for the annual picnic. At the close of business the first section of the games championships was contested, and the winners were: Euchre, Bro. L. Reid; table tennis, Bro. A. Toms. The finals of the open bowls between Bros K. Gange and H. Morris will be decided at the next meeting on April 18, when the quoits, cribbage and novice bowls will be contested. All members are invited to take part in these games, to for which entry is free.

ANNUAL PICNIC

Eltham Park was the picturesque setting on Eight Hours Day for the annual Junior Rechabite picnic conducted by the Star of Northcote Tent. The attendances was the largest ever record. Eight buses were required to transport the 500 odd children from the following Junior Tents: Hope of Northcote, Croxton; John Vale, Preston; Manger, Dennis; Pride of Thornbury, W. E. Findlay. A number of members from the North Preston and Eltham Tents were also present, whilst adult members and friends and parents of the juniors helped to swell the number to just on 400. In beautiful autumn weather a most enjoyable time was spent by all. After an early lunch a lengthy sports programme was conducted, into which all entered with keenness and enthusiasm. A cheque showed the aggregate penant competition for boys' tents had been won by John Vale, with Croxton second, and Northcote third; while Pride of Thornbury won the girls' section with W. E. Findlay and Annie Dennis Tents equal second. After tea the prizes were distributed, and Bro. W. E. Findlay, P.D.C.R., addressed the children and parents.

While waiting for the homeward trip for the buses for the twilight, the young folk enjoyed community singing which brought to a close a happy and eventful day. Much credit is due to the superintendents and parents who assisted for the smooth running of the whole of the arrangements — transport, catering, and sports. The success of the picnic was due to their energy and organising ability.

Specialised Course At Helen St. School

At the meeting of the Northcote Council on Monday, the secretary of the Northcote A.L.P. requested the council to express disapproval of the proposal of the Education Department to transfer the 7th and 8th grades from Wales St School to Helen St. School.

Cr. Peters asked the reason for the proposed change.

The Town Clerk (Mr. J. A. Thomson) said he understood the department was introducing a specialised three years course for scholars who did not go to either a technical or a high school. The departmental officers felt that this could best be done by concentrating the scholars from three schools—Miller St and Wales St to Helen St. The status of the Miller St and Wales St schools would not be affected.

Cr. Olver said he was not conversant with the move, but felt that the council should make full inquiries before committing itself.

Cr. French said that the concentration of scholars from three schools as one would have many advantages so far as specialised tuition was concerned, provided of course, the classes were not too large. The only disadvantage seemed the distance scholars would have to walk. However, there was only one technical and high school here and there, and what the children lost by travelling the extra distance would be more than offset by the better tuition.

The matter was referred to the Committee of the Council, in the meantime the Town Clerk to secure further information.

Christian Science

"Doctrine of Atonement" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon at all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday April 21. The golden text is from Matthew 20: 28 "The Son of man came not to be minister-ed unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many." Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And there came a leper to Him beseeching Him and kneeling down to Him, and saying unto Him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me clean." (Mark 1: 40.) The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Whoever reaches the understanding of Christian Science in its proper signification will perform the sudden cures of which it is capable; but this can be done only by taking up the cross and following Christ in daily life." Man On Bail Fails To Appear

BUT BOND IS NOT ESTREATED

When the case against William James Dennis, of Harry St, Thornbury, of having behaved in an offensive manner, and using insulting words in a soldier's wife, Arrangements made for flowers to be public place; and unlawfully assault- sent weekly, and cars ing Herbert Hall; and Albert Turnbull, Reid St, Northcote, of having behaved in an offensive manner and having unlawfully assaulted Thomas Henry Hall, were called at the Preston Court on April 10, it was stated that Dennis was in hospital and could not be present.

Senior Detective Raper, who appeared to prosecute, said that if it was not desired to estreat Dennis' bail bond he should have forwarded a doctor's certificate.

Mr. McMahon J.P., chairman of the bench, said Dennis had been liberated on a £20 surety. For all the bench knew, without any doctor's certificate being forthcoming, he might be "dead broke." He would adjourn the case to permit of inquiries being made.

Later, Mr. A. E. O'Connor said that it had not been possible for Mr. Roy Cahir (counsel for Dennis) to attend the court. He (Mr. O'Connor) was in receipt of a doctor's certificate stating that Dennis had been operated on on March 30, and would not be fit to leave the institution for 11 days.

Sen. Det. Raper said that the police had arranged with Mr. Cahir for an adjournment of the charges, but they had nothing to do with the bail bond.

The bench adjourned the charges until May 8 without ordering that the bail bond be renewed, but the amount of Turnbull's bail was fixed at £20.

Northcote A.N.A.

In the General Knowledge contest the first contest is against Preston at Preston on April 23 at 8.15 p.m. The following members are asked to be present: Messrs A. Watkins, T. Swanson, R. Fitch, T. Aldredge, L. Berry and R. Mills as well as any other member who cares to come along.

Five new members were welcomed by the President, and three more were nominated. Mr. Longmuir, President of Brunswick A.N.A. was welcomed to the meeting.

The secretary, in reporting on sick members, said there were a number injured through accidents. In reporting on cricket, Mr. Hogg, President of Cricket Club, said Brunswick had defeated Northcote for the A.N.A. Premiership, the match being Northcote's only defeat for the season. The A.N.A. Cricket Association annual Premiership Dance will be held at Victoria Hall on June 12.

The syllabus item was a combined A.N.A. and A.W.A. social, which was well attended.

THORNBURY TRADERS' ASSOCIATION

SHOP LOCALLY CAMPAIGN

THE DUTY OF THE DISCERNING HOUSEWIFE

An ever-recurring necessity for the progress of Thornbury is for you to make your household purchases from your local Thornbury traders. Whatever may be your requirements, they are generally obtainable from the local trader. If the price appears to be a little dearer than the city, just consider the savings you make in tram, train, luncheon and other incidentals. Undoubtedly it is a pleasant outing to spend a day in the city, but this does not mean that everyday purchases should be made outside your own suburb. Last year the traders of Thornbury were responsible for over £300 being collected for the Red Cross Soldiers' Comfort Fund. All householders who purchase their necessities from local traders directly and indirectly assisted in the collection of this magnificent sum. The name Thornbury was received by the parents, including one from Major Johnston O.C. Geelong Camp, who said that deceased was of ... to purchase locally and so give an ... to the traders of Thornbury the ... to launch other schemes for the advancement ... ation of the sick and afflicted. Apart ... from this, the duty of each conscientious housewife is to help advance the interests of her own suburb.

WEDNESDAY COMMUNITY SINGING

Last Wednesday's session of community singing was again well patronised. It is sponsored by the Thornbury Traders' Association. This session is relished by the community of Thornbury and near-by districts as is indicated by the large crowds attending each week. Valuable prizes are awarded each week to holders of lucky numbers, and traders also receive publicity. In future well-known artists will appear on the stage. An entertainment equal to any in Melbourne awaits all who attend. Admission is a silver coin.

Northcote Young Man's Death

PROMISING CAREER CUT SHORT

Many tributes of sympathy have been received by Mr. F. H. and Mrs. Mabel Chee, of Alexander St, Northcote, on the death of their son Frederick Nathaniel, 19½ years, who died in the Geelong Hospital on March 27, as the result of injuries sustained on March 25 (Easter Monday) whilst riding pillion on a motor-cycle on the Geelong Rd. The deceased was very well known in the Northcote district, where he was highly respected, and considered to have an excellent future. Naturally the parents were prostrated with grief over the sad occurrence. Deceased was in the employ of his father, a boot manufacturer in Smith St, Fitzroy, but was in the Army Service Corps in the militia camp at Geelong when the fatality took place.

Close on 150 letters, telegrams, and other expressions of sympathy were received by the parents, including one from Major Johnston O.C. Geelong Camp, who said that deceased was of ... Apart ... short, he was the ideal soldier and future citizen. Major Johnston wrote.

Over 90 wreaths were received, including those from the O.C. Geelong Camp, the Artillery Gun, the sergeants, 2nd Cavalry Division and ... Supply Co.

Appeal For Royal Melb. Hospital

ORIGINAL SCHEME TO RAISE FUNDS

The drive which is being made to raise funds for the new Royal Melbourne Hospital is an endeavour to ... mature and applies to the whole of the suburbs, as well as the city proper. Various novel schemes have been drawn up to assist the appeal, one of the most unique being a card-party drive to be undertaken in the near future as soon as the afternoon of May 15. The aim is to arrange a card party in every suburb. The Mayoress, Mrs. A. C. Bird, has consented to sponsor the appeal so far as Northcote is concerned.

It is proposed that one person or a group of persons in any street would act as hostess or hostesses and ask ... neighbours and friends to join them. By this means a considerable amount of money would be raised under convenient or enjoyable conditions. The size of the ordinary house may not be large enough to accommodate many tables, but this should not be a deterrent because as few as two tables will be necessary as part of the effort.

Bridge and crazy whist are the games favored and prizes are being offered for each. A pearl necklace valued at £15 15/, valuable furs, a winter's coat, etc, will be available as prizes, and those competing in the Northcote district will have the opportunity of selecting, as far as possible, the names of ladies or gentlemen who are prepared to throw their resources behind the movement. It will be necessary in order ... to have ... ... which is being arranged, as the opportunity of need for a prize to be ... the number of tables.

Despite the appeals for war funds there can be no objection to ... a practical assistance to the Royal Melbourne Hospital is concerned. It is a case of carrying on for the sick, in the ... and maimed in our midst. It is hoped that the efforts in Northcote will be ...

MORTIMER — LAMB

ESCORTED by her father, Miss Adele Lamb, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lamb, of 1 Waterloo Rd. Northcote, made a delightful picture in her American snake skin satin (eggshell) gown, when she was married to Mr. Afton Lindsay Mortimer, only child of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Mortimer, at James Mortimer, only child of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Mortimer, at the Church of the Epiphany, Northcote, on March 23. The service was choral and Easter decorations were disposed about the church.

A veil (lent by Mrs. Campbell) mounted on tulle with a heading of cream velvet lilies enveloped the bride, who carried a bouquet of water lilies and frangipanni.

Miss Elsie Lamb (sister of bride) and the Misses Edna Thompson and Dawn Mills (cousins of bride and groom respectively) were in attendance. Their frocks of blue organdie were trimmed with cherry red velvet ribbon. Heart shaped necklines finished the bodices of the skirts with small bows of ribbon at waist. Blue bolero jackets were also worn, over which fell veils of net with matching organdie lilies on top of the head. The bridegroom's presents to the bridesmaids were opal birthday rings and the flower girl received a gold brooch. Their bouquets consisted of red roses and deep red carnations.

The groom was attended by his cousins, Mr. Ken Jenkin, and Mr. Jack Witham. After the ceremony a breakfast and reception were held at the Masonic Hall, Northcote, the decorations being in cream and blue.

For travelling, the bride chose blue crepe back satin with a Grenadier hat and plum accessories.

The bride's mother was gowned in a teal blue evening frock with a full length black velvet coat. The bridegroom's mother wore a black dinner gown and a silver fox fur.

The couple will reside at Koo-wee-rup, South Gippsland.

WHITE FRENCH LACE

JOHNSON — AURISCH

THE wedding of Miss Phyllis Belle Aurisch and Mr. Guy Leyland Johnson was solemnised at the Church of the Epiphany Northcote, on Saturday, April 13, by the Rev. J. O. Hutchcs. The bride is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Aurisch, of Clarendon St, Thornbury, and the groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Johnson, of Autumn St, Geelong.

For her gown the bride chose white French lace mounted over silver lame, fashioned with a square neckline edged with tulle. Her finger length tulle veil was held in place by a cluster of bouvardias, and she carried a bouquet of similar flowers. She was given away by her father.

Her bridesmaids, the Misses Connie Johnson (sister of groom) and Irma Knowles, were frocked in daffodil yellow and hydrangea blue taffeta respectively. Their frocks were made on Empire lines with skirts padded to stand out and they wore Dolly Varden headdresses centred with cactus dahlias and tied with velvet ribbon to tone with the frocks. They carried bouquets of cactus dahlias.

Mr. Ralph G. Aurisch, brother of bride, acted as best man, and Mr. Jack McInnes as groomsman. After the ceremony a reception was held and old friends and relatives entertained.

For travelling, the bride chose a full length black coat and skirt trimmed with black velvet, and red accessories.

Mr. Johnson is first coxswain at Karumba Flying Boat Base on the Gulf of Carpentaria. He is home on two months leave of absence, and may be appointed to another base, so the future residence of the happy couple is uncertain.

DEEP MAGNOLIA SATIN

BUSE — DUNCAN

THE Church of the Epiphany, Northcote, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, March 16, when Mavis Jean, only daughter on Mrs. Duncan, of Andrew St., Northcote and the late Mr. Duncan, became the wife of Fred, youngest son of Mrs. Buse, Salisbury Gve. Northcote, and the late Mrs. Buse.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Don Duncan, chose a gown of deep magnolia satin cut on classical lines, the full skirt extending to form a long train. Her tulle veil was caught to her dark hair with a halo of orange blossom and she carried a bouquet of water lilies and cactus dahlias.

Misses Nancy Charles, Joyce Beers and Shirley Duncan (niece of the bride) acted as bridesmaids and were dressed alike in frocks of blue delphinium chiffon mounted on taffetas, picture hats of the same material were also worn. Delphiniums and pink gladioli formed their bouquets.

The groom was attended by Mr. A. Mason, of Lilydale as best man, and Mr. Alan Duncan (brother of the bride) acted as groomsman.

...Mrs. Duncan chose a navy ensemble and the bridegroom's mother a grey ensemble.

POWDER BLUE ENSEMBLE

LANGMAN — BURRIS

THE Baptist Church, High St. Northcote, was beautifully decorated on April 6 for the marriage of Miss Mary Burris second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burris, to Mr. George Langman, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Langman, New South Wales. Rev. N. V. Hansen preformed the ceremony, and during the signing of the register, Mrs. Casey rendered a solo.

The bride chose an ensemble of powder blue with hat to match and navy accessories and carried a bouquet of gladioli and frangipanni.

Mrs. D. MacIntosh acted as matron of honor and chose a frock of jellybean woollen material with hat to match. She carried a bouquet of gladioli and frangipanni. Mr. W. Gillingwards at Wrights.

DISAPPOINTMENT was expressed by the big audience at the Plaza Theatre on April 11 that only one competitor—Pat Hardy—put in an appearance for the preliminary final of the Juvenile section of the P. & A. WILL INTRODUCTION OF DOUBLE DECKER BUSES BE DELAYED?

Attitude Of The Federal Government

It is not yet [illegible] Double-decker buses will be running in High St. instead of the cable trams seems to be uncertain in view of recent developments, and the whole position of the moment is shrouded in mystery. This is owing to the Federal Government not wanting any additional motor transport services in operation and requiring the re-adjustment of existing services in order to conserve fuel.

It is understood that the Federal Ministry's request is tantamount to the retention of the trams until after the war. If the cable service remains in operation it will be for the purpose of conserving petrol and oil. The new double deckers are to run on crude oil.

Just how far the discussions have gone is not known.

Tramways Official Reticent

When Mr. Russell, Publicity Officer for the Tramways Board, was approached on the matter he refused to be drawn in any way beyond stating that the Minister of the Department of Supply (Sir Frederick Stewart) had stated he could see no reason why the buses should commence running. If anything of any importance occurred, Mr. Russell informed a "Leader-Budget" representative, he would be pleased to make information available as speedily as possible.

THE MONEY QUESTION

(To the Editor.)

Sir,—As a student of economics and the Money Question for years, I read with great advance and interest a letter by Mr. A. White of Northcote urging the Northcote Council to approach the Commonwealth Bank for credit free of interest for public works, in last week's issue of the "Leader-Budget." I wish to thank Mr. Whyte and Cr. Gray for bringing this important matter before the Council, and also Cr. Peters who favored the motion. Yours etc.,

E. T. JOHNSON.

Normanby Ave. Bridge

ITS CONSTRUCTION VERY PROBABLE

There is every reason to believe that the strong representations made by municipal councils and representative bodies as to the necessity for a bridge over the Merri Creek linking Normanby Ave with Moreland Rd. have brought the desired result.

At a meeting of the Council of Northern Municipalities held in the Northcote Town Hall on April 5, it was stated that a report on the matter had been prepared by the Public Works Department, but a copy of the report had not been presented.

If the work is carried out (and there is every justification for thinking it will be), Northcote Council will contribute £1,000 and the Brunswick and Coburg Councils £3,000 each, the balance being made available by the Government. The proposal that the bridge should be erected under the supervision of one of the councils would be favorably received. This being the case, Mr. V. J. Bradley, engineer to the City of Northcote, would most likely be placed in control.

Melbourne North Province Election

MELBOURNE SOLICITOR WINS LABOR PRE-SELECTION

Voting in the pre-selection ballot in the Labor interests for the Melbourne North Province for the Legislative Council (at present held by Mr. E. L. Kiernan, M.L.C.) which took place on April 13, created a considerable amount of interest. The candidates were: Mr. A. M. Fraser (South Yarra), Mr. L. G. Marshall (Clifton Hill), Mr. J. J. Ryan (Thornbury), and Mr. W. Hulse (Hawthorn). The primary vote resulted: L. G. Marshall, 780; A. M. Fraser, 694; J. J. Ryan, 401; Hulse 35. In the preferential voting a big proportion of Mr. Ryan's votes went to Fraser, who polled 983 to 905 secured by Marshall.

Mr. Fraser is a Melbourne solicitor, and previously stood for a seat in the Legislative Assembly. The local candidate (Mr. Ryan) polled extremely well in the circumstances, whilst the claims of Mr. W. Hulse who has done much for the Labor movement, were almost completely ignored.

From the result and shouting of the preselection ballots have emerged the successful contestants in the first round of the Legislative Council elections which take place in June.

Mr. E. L. Kiernan M.L.C., the member for Melbourne North Province, who is defending his seat in the Council, has no fewer than twenty-one years of service in the province as its elected representative, to his credit. Mr. Kiernan's fearless stand for financial and economic reform is well known and admired, and many friends from all sections of political thought will rally to his support.

Twenty-one years ago Mr. Kiernan won the Melbourne North seat for Labor on the death of the Hon. Donald Melville who had held it for 37 years; but in 1932 he was excluded by the Australian Executive of the Labor Party because he had resigned from the Ministry rather than support the restoration of salaries to the higher paid public servants. The Labor Government had agreed to restore all civil service salaries below £400 per annum (£8 weekly) which had been reduced under the Premiers' Plan, but did not agree to restore salaries of public servants earning over £400 a year. The Central Executive demanded the restoration of salaries to those earning above £400 per annum, as well as those below that figure. On this rock the Labor Cabinet was split, and, at the subsequent elections, defeated. Mr Kiernan was in England when the Premiers' Plan was formulated, and therefore, was not a party to those proposals.

During his twenty-one years as representative of the Melbourne North Province, Mr. Kiernan has given of his best. Anything which has savoured of injustice has evoked his unequivocal condemnation. It is within very recent memory that it was entirely owing to his efforts that the Government brought to a proper sense of its responsibilities was forced to appoint a Royal Commission to inquire into certain matters associated with the Milk Board Bill and the Money Lenders' Bill. Mr. Kiernan's endeavours to have the school-leaving age have been sponsored, and the success of which, he believes, is absolutely essential to the development of Australia.

INTEREST QUICKENS IN BABY SHOW

SPONSORED BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Wide Entry From Other Suburbs

IMMEDIATE ENTRY IS ADVISED

NORTHCOTE babies will be well advised to have on their best bibs and tuckers and be on their very best behaviour on Tuesday May 14, which is judging day for the Northcote Chamber of Commerce's Grand Baby Show. This event is being sponsored by the above business organisation to aid the Red Cross funds. Early entry of babies will greatly assist the successful organisation of judging day and will be much appreciated.

A PLEASING feature during the last few days has been the steady inquiry from suburbs well outside Northcote. Both this office and Mr. Dixon, secretary to the Chamber, have had a steady stream of entries, especially from Brunswick.

To those mothers contemplating an entry in the photographic section, as well as the other event we advise an early visit to the Cyril Stevens Studios, official photographers to the competition. This will avoid a rush in the last few days and possible disappointment.

When it is considered the splendid cause that will benefit from the Baby Show, namely the Red Cross, the "Leader-Budget" is certain that Northcote mothers will quickly rally and enter their babies.

The sections cover children from babyhood to six years. Full particulars and entry forms may be had upon application to Mr. Dixon, c/o 377 High St. Northcote, JW3031.

The Department of Lands and Survey has notified the Northcote Council of intention to sell the old police station in Walker St. There are two allotments of land.

WEDDINGS

IN NORTHCOTE CHURCHES

American Snake Skin Satin Worn

MORTIMER — LAMB

ESCORTED by her father, Miss Adele Lamb, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lamb, of 1 Waterloo Rd. Northcote, made a delightful picture in her American snake skin satin (eggshell) gown, when she was married to Mr. Afton Lindsay Mortimer, only child of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Mortimer, at James Morthmer, only child of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Mortimer, at the Church of the Epiphany, Northcote, on March 23. The service was choral and Easter decorations were disposed about the church.

A veil (lent by Mrs. Campbell) mounted on tulle with a heading of cream velvet fleur lilies enveloped the bride, who carried a bouquet of water lilies and frangipani.

Miss Elsie Lamb (sister of bride) and the Misses Edna Thompson and Dawn Mills (cousins of bride and groom respectively) were in attendance. Their frocks of blue organdie were trimmed with cherry red velvet ribbon. Heart shaped necklines finished the bodices of the skirts with small bows of ribbon at the waist. Blue bolero jackets were also worn, over which fell veils of net with matching organdie lilies on top of the head. The bridegroom's presents to the bridesmaids were opal birthday rings and the flower girl received a gold brooch. Their bouquets consisted of red roses and deep red carnations.

The groom was attended by his cousins, Mr. Ken Jenkin, and Mr. Jack Witham. After the ceremony a breakfast and reception were held at the Masonic Hall, Northcote, the decorations being in cream and blue.

For travelling, the bride chose blue crepe back satin with a Grenadier hat and plum accessories.

The bride's mother was gowned in a teal blue evening frock with a full length black velvet coat. The bridegroom's mother wore a black dinner gown and a silver fox fur.

The couple will reside at Koowee-rup, South Gippsland.

WHITE FRENCH LACE

JOHNSON — AURISCH

THE wedding of Miss Phyllis Belle Aurisch and Mr. Guy Leyland Johnson was solemnised at the Church of the Epiphany, Northcote, on Saturday, April 13, by the Rev. J. O. Hurley. The bride is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Aurisch, of Clarendon St. Thornbury, and the groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Johnson, of Autumn St. Geelong.

For her gown the bride chose white French lace mounted over silver lame, fashioned with a square neckline edged with tulle. Her finger length tulle veil was held in place by a cluster of honvardias, and she carried a bouquet of similar flowers. She was given away by her father.

Her bridesmaids, the Misses Connie Johnson (sister of groom) and Irma Knowles, were frocked in daffodil yellow and hydrangea blue taffeta respectively. Their frocks were made on Empire lines with skirts padded to stand out and they wore Dolly Varden headdresses centred with cactus dahlias and tied with velvet ribbon to tone with the frocks. They carried bouquets of cactus dahlias.

Mr. Ralph G. Aurisch, brother of bride, acted as best man, and Mr. Jack McInnes as groomsman. After the ceremony a reception was held and old friends and relatives entertained.

For travelling, the bride chose a full length black coat and skirt trimmed with black velvet, and red accessories.

DEEP MAGNOLIA SATIN

BUSE — DUNCAN

THE Church of the Epiphany, Northcote, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, March 17, when Mavis Jean, only daughter on Mrs. Duncan, of Andrew St., Northcote and the late Mr. Duncan, became the wife of Fred, youngest son of Mrs. Buse, Salisbury Gve. Northcote, and the late Mrs. Buse.

Her tulle veil was caught to her dark hair with a halo of orange blossom and she carried a bouquet of water lilies and cactus dahlias.

Misses Nancy Charles, Joyce Beers and Shirley Duncan (niece of the bride) acted as bridesmaids and were dressed alike in frocks of blue delphinium chiffon mounted on taffetas, picture hats of the same material were also worn. Delphiniums and pink gladioli formed their bouquets.

The groom was attended by Mr. A. Mason, of Lilydale as best man, and Mr. Alan Duncan (brother of the bride) acted as groomsman.

...Mrs. Duncan chose a navy ensemble and the bridegroom's mother a grey ensemble.

Mrs. D. Macintosh acted as matron of honor and chose a frock of jelliebean woollen material with hat to match. She carried a bouquet of gladioli and frangipanni. Mr. W. Gilling-ham was best man. The wedding breakfast took place after wards at Wrights.

Air Force Officer Fined

ON TWO CHARGES

JAMES C. Kinnear, Mail-drivers Rd. Ivanhoe, was proceeded against at Northcote Court on April 15 for having failed to proceed in Heidelberg Rd. on February 15 at such a rate of speed as would enable him to stop in case of sudden danger and with failing to keep his car as near as practicable to the kerb on the near side in Queen's Pde., Clifton Hill, on February 15.

Constable Ottery said that at 8.10 p.m. on February 15 he saw defendant passing Fenwick St. at a speed of 55 m.p.h. That speed was maintained for several hundred yards. When crossing the Clifton Hill railway gates in Queen's Pde., defendant drove his car six yards from the left hand side kerb. The police attempted to pull in beside defendant's car, but he continued on at about six yards from the left hand side kerb to the gardens. Defendant was requested to pull into the kerb but continued to drive ahead. Later, defendant looked at the police car and pulled into the kerb, but refused to make a statement until he saw his solicitor.

Under cross-examination witness said there was a bottle-neck at the railway gates and owing to the heavy traffic it would have been dangerous to have attempted to stop defendant there.

Constable Peak's evidence was to the effect that defendant was travelling from 45 to 50 miles per hour, and it would have been impossible for him to stop in case of danger when passing Fenwick St.

Defendant said he was travelling along Heidelberg Rd. at 35 to 40 miles per hour. At Fenwick St. he was travelling about 35 miles per hour. When crossing the gates he travelled about 10 or 15 miles per hour. On the other side of Gold St. he was questioned by the police. The reason he could not drive nearer to the kerb was because of a horse-driven vehicle in front of him and pedestrians standing on the roadway. It was untrue that he was doing 55 m.p.h. while passing Fenwick St.

The bench—Messrs. Addison and Holden, J.'sP., decided to inspect the locality and on their return, Mr. Addison stated that they accepted the evidence of the police in both charges. For having driven at an excessive speed defendant would be fined £3 and for not having kept closer to the kerb 10/-.

MOTOR DRIVER'S CALLOUS CONDUCT

The City Coroner (Mr. Tingate) was told by the police that they had been unable to find the driver of a motor car which had crashed into a motor cycle driven by Benjamin Francis West, of Beaver's Rd, Northcote, warder, and on which was riding Leonard James Forbes, 15 years, of Beaver's Rd, who was killed as the result of the impact in Plenty Rd, Preston on March 5.

Evidence was given that although the driver of the car got out of his car shortly after the collision he promptly disappeared.

Mr. Tingate recorded an open finding about "What are your circus men so sad about?" "The elephant is dead." "... he said that the conduct of the motor... was disgraceful. There was no doubt... The only excuse to say what had been said was to... the collision.

GREENGROCER CHARED WITH RECEIVING

Committed For Trial On Four Charges

BICYCLES, GOLF STICKS, RADIATOR CAPS, INVOLVED

Hector Percy Hamilton, 21, who conducts a greengrocery business in Gilbert Rd. Preston, was presented at Preston Court on April 10 on four charges of having received two bicycles, a golf bag and set of clubs and a radiator cap knowing them to have been stolen.

He was committed for trial on the four charges.

ARTHUR Clifford Northcast, process engraver, of Lee St, Dennis, said that on February 16 he left his bicycle in Ballantyne St, Thornbury, for about five minutes. When he returned the machine was missing. He valued it at £3. The saddle on the bicycle produced was different from the one he left on it.

Graham Frank, apprentice engineer, of Bedford Rd, Reservoir, said that on February 11 he left his bicycle in front of the door of the main entrance to the Preston Technical School. When he returned about an hour later the bicycle was missing. He valued it at £9. It had now a different seat.

Emily May Caylie, clerk, residing at Gilbert Rd, West Preston, said that on February 27 she left her roller bag and clubs in a car and they were stolen. She valued them at £10.

Robert Gardiner Metcalf, cycle trader, and licensed secondhand dealer, Sydney Rd, Brunswick, and residing at Leicester St, Preston, said he had known accused for seven or eight years. On February 22 he saw accused at Gilbert Rd, Preston about two bicycles accused had for sale. Accused said he wanted £3 for the bicycles, and brought them into the shop where witness was carrying on business. Witness offered £1 for the Cleveland cycle and £2 for the Crusader. Theses prices were eventually accepted by accused. Witness took the cycles and later the police took possession of them.

Under cross-examination witness said his money had been returned to him. Accused's family was well known and respected, and witness would also say that of accused. It came as a shock to him when he found out that there was something wrong with the 55 cycles.

First Constable Knights said that on March 20 in company with Senior Detective Raper and Constable Opperman he interviewed accused about the bicycles sold to Metcalfe. Accused told him a boy named Mansfield brought the bicycles to him. The police saw Mansfield and in the presence of the accused Mansfield said he did take the bicycles to Hawkins, who said he put them in the garage and left them there. When taxed with the fact that he knew the bicycles were stolen, Hawkins said he did. He also said he had sold the machines to Metcalf.

He had given Mansfield 15/- of the money he received.

In a statement by Mansfield it was alleged accused told Mansfield he could bring him cars and bicycles he stole. Accused had told Mansfield he was slow as another man had brought him two other bicycles.

When asked by Dr. Roper why no mention of a kind of thing First Constable Knights contained, accused said he had bought a motor car. He had before drawn, and he wanted the money to get it fixed up to carry on his business.

On March 27, witness said, he again saw accused at the Preston Police Station when he was questioned by Detective O'Keeffe about the golf sticks.

Under cross-examination Knights said accused had not been frank about the golf sticks. Witness thought accused was the master mind behind the stealing of the bicycles, although Mansfield had been convicted for stealing them.

Detective Raper corroborated the evidence of Det. Knights.

Det. O'Keeffe said that on March 22 he saw accused at his shop and told him it was believed he had some stolen property on the premises. Accused denied there was any stolen property there, but did say there were some wire less sets. Accused invited the police to look through the house. Accused was told he was suspected of having some golf clubs and a rifle to which he replied that he had had some golf clubs which he had received from Mansfield, but had given them back to him. Accused's mother said the golf clubs were in her bedroom. The explanation given by Hawkins was that he did not want to get Mansfield into any worse trouble.

Accused Detective O'Keeffe said, stated that he had tried to sell the golf clubs to one man only. On a search being made a radiator cap was found. Hawkins said Mansfield had brought it to him and said he had "pinched" it off a car. He had not told Mansfield anything for the cap, and Mansfield had brought him two more caps, one of which he had returned to the owner.

First-Constable Opperman gave evidence of a corroborative nature.

Accused's counsel said that if the bench would deal with the cases, accused would plead guilty.

Mr. McMahon, J.P., chairman, said that the bench thought that accused should be committed for trial on the charges. He was accordingly committed for trial at the General Sessions, Melbourne on May 1.

Bail was allowed on one surety of £25 with self in a similar amount on the first charge, and self in £25 on the other three charges.

Senior-Detective Raper prosecuted.

A HEALTH INSPECTOR ALLEGES HE WAS OBSTRUCTED

J. H. Best, Mitchell St, Preston, was proceeded against at Northcote Court on April 19 for having obstructed an officer of the Health Commission in the execution of his duty.

Defendant did not appear, but was represented by Mr. A. E. O'Connor.

Allen John Barry, Health Inspector, said he followed a van driven by defendant on February 23 in St. George's Rd. where he stopped the van. After inspecting the contents in the rear of the van, witness told defendant he would inspect the front. Defendant said he had given the inspector a good go, and would not stop any longer. With that Best drove away.

Mr. O'Connor said defendant had previously been fined, but his patience became exhausted when he was asked to remove something that was nailed on to the van.

A fine of £2 was imposed with £1-1 costs.

Northcote Brick Co.

Profit of the Northcote Brick Co. Ltd. in the year ended March 31 amounted to £11,156, compared with a profit of £11,033 in the year before, and £13,860 in 1937-38. Dividends at the unchanged rate of 1/6 a share (7½ per cent.) require £11,250, leaving £631 to be carried forward, against £725 brought into the accounts.

IN DIVORCE

Mr. Justice Martin, in the Third Civil Court on April 19, granted a decree nisi to Isabella Gackin, 57, Mansfield St, Thornbury, from Henry Gackin, 56 years, Ready Reckoner Maker, Melbourne, on the ground of desertion.

Money Allegedly Taken From A Neighbor

WOMAN COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

THE story of a missing amount of money totalling 12/9 was related at some length in Northcote Court on April 19 when Maud Robinson, who described herself as a widow, of Dundas St, Thornbury, a middle-aged woman, was charged with stealing that amount from Regina Sullivan, married woman.

Regina Sullivan, Dundas St, Thornbury, said that at 1.30 pm. on April 2 she was in the kitchen of her home when accused came with a bottle of wine. She asked witness for a glass. At that time a man knocked at the door and witness left the kitchen. After the man had inspected a calf belonging to the witness he told her 10/- for it, and she placed the money in a bag in a cabinet. She left the kitchen a second time, but defendant did not accompany her, and later left the house by the front door. On returning to her kitchen witness found the cabinet in an untidy condition and her bag had been emptied. In the bag was about 12/9. Whilst witness was outside transacting business with the man, nobody else was in her house. On the following day defendant told her the police had "got her," and if witness were offered £1 would she keep the case out of court, adding that witness would lose the case under any circumstances. Witness told defendant the matter was in the hands of the police.

First Constable Knight told how he had interviewed defendant at Thornbury Police Station. Defendant told the police she knew nothing about the money although she said she had been there that day. On going to a wine saloon in High St, Thornbury, witness found defendant had bought a bottle of wine and several drinks of wine. Accused then acknowleged she took the money.

Defendant said she was very drunk at the time of the offence.

Detective D. Egerton (who prosecuted) said it was a case of simple larceny which the bench might be prepared to deal with.

Mr. Addison, P.M., chairman, said the bench was not prepared to adopt such a course, and defendant would be committed for trial at the General Sessions on May 1, bail being fixed in one surety of £20 with self in a similar sum.

Pilfering Is Indulged In At A Kitchen Tea

MAN COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

JAMES Albert Sheehan, Albion St. W. Brunswick, was proceeded against at Northcote Court on April 19 for having stolen an overcoat, scarf and hat valued at £5/5/-, the property of Jack Wright.

Jack Wright, electrical engineer, East Brunswick, said that at 9.15 p.m. on April 13 he went to a kitchen tea at the Northcote Football Pavilion. Wearing a camel hair overcoat. This he hung in the hall together with his hat. He also placed a scarf in the pocket of the overcoat. Later in the evening the articles were missing. Accused was in the room where the coats were.

Jack Berry, packer, Spensley St, Clifton Hill, said he was also present at the Kitchen Tea. He was wearing an overcoat which was hung in a cloakroom. He left there two hand bags and a scarf. Later on he found the overcoat and the handbags were missing. Twenty minutes later he saw accused leaving the hall with a camel hair coat on his arm similar to witness's. On April 16 witness identified accused as the man he saw taking the coat. There were three camel hair coats there.

First Constable Grundy said that on April 16 in company with Detective Egerton he went to Albion St, West Brunswick, where he saw accused who admitted he had been to the Kitchen Tea. He denied taking any coats. Accused was taken to the Northcote Detective Office where he was identified by Berry as the person who took the coat. Accused said he would say nothing, and did not make any statement. When asked by witness whether he could get the coat back accused said he did not know what he could do. The coat was not found at accused's home.

Detective Egerton said that with the permission of the bench he would like the reference to the hat in the charge deleted, and the bench agreed to that course.

Accused's solicitor said there was no evidence that he had taken the coat, to which Mr. Addison, P.M., replied that it was for the bench to say whether accused was guilty or not. That is dealt with the jury. It was the court's duty only to decide whether there was sufficient evidence to send accused for trial. They found that there was. Accused would stand his trial, therefore, at the General Sessions on May 1, bail being fixed in one surety of £20 and self in a similar amount.

Magnesium— The Magic Metal

Few motorists have any knowledge of magnesium, a metal which is one-third lighter than aluminium, and is already being extensively used in aircraft construction, and for some parts of motor-coaches, cars, etc. Magnesium, it is believed by some experts, is destined to become an important competitor of aluminium for certain components of motor vehicles and especially aircraft, especially as its price has now become competitive. Magnesium alloys can be used almost anywhere aluminium is employed except for pistons, owing to its higher rate of thermal expansion and low heat conductivity. HINTS FOR KNITTERS

NOW that the long nights are here, thoughts turn to something warm. And while it is pleasant to sit near the fire, it is then that industrious fingers itch for something to do to while away the long evenings. And what could be more interesting and economical than to do some knitting either for oneself or perhaps for sons, brothers, or friends serving with the forces overseas or in camp.

For months past many auxiliaries and individuals have been doing splendid work in knitting comforts for the troops, and among the most popular articles are cardigans, pullovers, Balaclava helmets, scarves and last but not least, socks, of which every man in the various services needs several pairs to ease the effects of long periods of arduous footwork. Our local wool manufacturers have always been well up with overseas fashions in producing the various styles of wool in the latest shades such as cyclamen, guardsman red, Masthoi blue, olive green, khaki, and Air Force blue in the various plys.

Although there are many overseas publications featuring knitted goods, the writer of these notes would recommend the using of Australian instruction books which mostly specify wools which are made and are easily procurable in Australia thus leaving no doubt as to the fit and appearance of the finished garment if the instructions are carried out.

Wool from the shearing of the sheep to the skein purchased over the counter, would need volumes to describe the various processes, through which it passes, and the knitter who takes a real pride in the finished garment will purchase only good quality wool, as it is only false economy, as many have found to their disappointment, to use cheap and discontinued numbers.

Most instruction books give three sizes for each garment, also the tension that is necessary to give the correct size, and it is advisable to select a pattern of the correct size, rather than to alter the instructions given. This is especially so in regard to children's garments and it is wise when purchasing patterns to get the size required as two children of the same age may be of entirely different physiques. In making up your garment, lay each piece of work on an ironing blanket and pin it down to the correct shape and size. Then press with a warm iron and a damp rag. After this lay the pieces edge to edge. Then sew stitch to stitch with wool and hurling or darning needle. Afterwards press all seams.

Great care is required in washing woollen garments. Do not soak; use a good soap dissolved in clean water just hot enough to put the hands into comfortably. On no account use soda or caustic powders. Rubbing should be avoided—squeezing is best and all that is necessary.

White woollens will retain their softness and whiteness when dry if a little ammonia is added to the washing water. After washing, rinse in clean water of same temperature, then squeeze out. On no account should woollen garments be hung up to dry as this will cause stretching. The best method is to spread on on a towel or sheet, preferably in open air.

SOCK COMPETITION

1ST PRIZE £3—2ND PRIZE £1—3RD PRIZE

KNITTING INSTRUCTIONS

THE following general instructions are included in the directions:—

Socks should be without seams or knots in heel or sole.

Never knot the wool. Join either by beginning to knit with the fresh ball a few inches before the end of the old ball, or with a darning needle, run an end of the new ball into the end thread of the old one, thus making a "splice."

To avoid disappointment, use the correct ply wool and the right size needles. If you knit loosely, choose the finer needles; if tightly the coarser ones.

When completed, press the socks with a damp cloth, but do not press or damp ribbing.

SOCK WITH FRENCH HEEL

Use 4-ply wool. Quantity required, four or five 4oz skeins.

Use No. 10 or 11 needles, and cast on 48 or 52 stitches.

Use No. 12 needles, and cast on 56 or 60 stitches.

If using finer wool and No. 13 or 14 needles, cast on 76 or 80 stitches.

Cast on loosely to avoid a tight ring at the top.

The names of parts of a sock used in these instructions are: (1) Welt or ribbing; (2) leg; (3) instep; (4) heel flap; (5) heel gusset; (6) ankle; (7) foot; (8) toe.

Welt or Ribbing—Cast on a number of stitches chosen, knit one round plain, then 2 plain 2 purl for four and a half inches.

Leg—Now plain till you have 11 inches with No. 12 needle, 12 and 13 inches with Nos. 11 and 10, as the larger needles allow a longer leg to be knitted out of the quantity of wool given.

Heel Flap—Now, put half the stitches on one needle, and equally divide the remainder required for instep on the second and third needles, which are left until heel is finished. On the single needle knit alternate rows of plain and purl till a good square is formed, measuring over two inches along the sides, and having 26 to 32 rows in it according to your needles and style of knitting. The first stitch in each row always is slipped.

Heel Gusset—With inside of heel towards you, * purl to centre of heel and 2 stitches beyond; then purl 2 together, purl 1 and turn over to plain side. Slip 1, knit on to centre and 2 beyond. Knit 2 together (by slipping 1, knitting 1 and pulling slipped stitch over) and knit 1. Now turn and proceed as from *, always taking in at 1 stitch further away from the centre, till all the stitches are used up and a neat gusset thus formed, the knitting side, not the purling

Ankle Gussetts—With your fr up the stitches down one side of h for every pair of lines; about knit these on to the same needle gusset stitches. Now knit on needle all the stitches left for the beginning the heel flap. Now pic third 13, 14 or 15 stitches up the the heel flap, and transfer half set stitches also on to this needle these stitches. Your three need in a sort of triangle. Beginn centre of heel the needles are H, III. Knit two needs plain needle I to within three of end gether, knit last stitch. N Needle III knit 1, slip 1, knit 1 ped stitch over, knit plain to This reducing is to be done row till there are the same as were on the leg.

Foot—Knit plain, 21 inches of the full length of heel to tip of toe. If foot equals 8½ inches, 21 equals 8¾ inches, (1½ inches Toe—Begin on needle II. K pull slipped stitch over, knit 2 together, knit 2. Needle III, knit 1, pull over slipped stitch needle. Needle I, knit to three together knit 2. Knit 2 plain as before; knit another 2 plain crease as before; knit 2 plain to another 2 plain rounds, decreasing row between each decrease till or 24 left. Transfer stitches to I, so an equal number on needles. Break off yarn, leaving and thread it into a darning as if to knit and take off the st ing wool well through. Put 2nd stitch as if purling, draw through, but leave stitch on. around (not over knitting) needle and purl the first stitch off. Knit the 2nd stitch (with the leave it on the needle. Repeat toe is grafted together. Draw up, and secure it by neatly the side of the toe.

MEASUREMENTS

When finished from under heel welt equals 14 inches, 15 inches. From back of heel to tip of toe inches or 11 inches.

BEWARE OF BEGGING IMPOSTOR

Business people and residents generally are warned against a one-legged fraud who begs for money. This individual assumes a whining attitude and says he is "just waiting for his pension to be paid so he wants a loan of a few shillings to tide him over." He promises faithfully to repay the loan, but never does. The best attitude for those importuned is either to ring up the police or refer the impostor to the police.

RECORD ATTENDANCES AT OPENING ASSOCIATION GAMES

PRESTON SHADE NORTHCOTE IN GENERAL PLAY

By "VIGILANT"

The Association matches commenced on Saturday under the happiest conditions—bigger attendances making for record gates for an opening day, whilst the games were played in delightful weather.

Such conditions must act as a tonic to the valiant Association officials who have met rebuff after rebuff, but who would appear to be raising this code of football to a popular level. The crowd at Preston numbered 12,000, one that has never been equalled.

For nine years Preston had not defeated Northcote in an opening game. They broke that hoodoo on Saturday by accounting for the Green and Golds in most workmanlike style—being slightly superior in all departments of play. Northcote can be expected to improve. There was a weakness on the forward line last year—something that is still apparent.

On the other hand Morrison, Preston's captain and coach, has moulded the Red and Whites into a very useful combination, and I will be very surprised if the coming year does not turn out to be one of their best. All the material is there for a clever, powerful, fast-moving side.

THE TEAMS

Preston: Backs: W. Gray, A. Smith, possible for a number of clever moves. A. Mitney; Half-backs: G. Colbone, A., Northcote's backs were experiencing Veach, K. Watkins; Centres: R. Dow—a hammering such as they seldom receive, F. Beardmore, C. Wilson; Half-backs: [illegible] Brotherton, J. Clark, E. Robertson and Powell, and Archer, Rudd-Dunbars; Forwards: I. Norman, R. Hall and Newman—stuck manfully to Taylor, P. Dingmans; Fullbacks: J. their task, the team was palpably Norman, A. Sedgman; Rovers: L. Ross, and Preston had little trouble to add Newman, A. Sedgman; Rovers: L. Ross, goal to their credit.

OUR SHORT STORY—

THE SILVER BOWL

The breakfast table with its rose-filled china bowl, looked very bright, and even the canary, in his window cage, seemed to be celebrating the arrival of the great day with his full throated song.

They sat opposite one another, the spare little man with thinning grey hair, and the little woman whose quick, bright movements suggested a singing bird.

Maybe they will present me with a silver bowl, Mrs. Ford-away had told herself, as she poured the tea.

The china bowl was very nice, of course and an old friend. But she wa prepared to be ruthless and to banish it, should her hopes materialise.

●

[illegible] the day ap- [illegible] mentioned this [illegible] here and there, and Henry had not put the idea aside as completely unlikely.

A silver bowl!

How nice it would look, filled with flowers, with roses from the small garden at the back.

Mrs. Ford-away cracked her white egg. Mr. Fordaway cracked his brown egg. She always gave Henry the brown egg; he liked the brown. So too did she; but marriage is like that.

She raised her bright eyes and submitted her husband to a secret, wifely inspection. It was a regard bird-like and loving.

He looked very nice, she considered, in his new black jacket with that winged collar, set off by the new grey silk tie. Nobody would believe he was sixty-seven. He looked ten years younger.

●

The excitement of the occasion passed between them like an electric current; but they said little, for theirs was that close communion that renders words unnecessary between those who love.

"To think," she apostrophised, as she stood at the door, gra-ping the thin umbrella and scrutinising a sky pale blue and cloudless, "To think that it is fifty years."

Henry nodded, and his nod said eloquently enough: "It cannot be denied, my dear, but there, maybe it is not so wonderful after all." But his eye spoke otherwise. Should a man not feel pride in faithful service?

Fifty years, man and boy, in one firm. From office-boy to head clerk. Fifty years!

Henry Fordaway could recall the time Thomas Davenport, the senior partner, was a public school boy, remembered the great day when he was first taken into partnership. He had become senior partner in the course of the years. Two years ago he had died.

And now it was Master Thomas junior who ruled as master. Henry Fordaway could recall stories from so far back that he appeared incredibly old to the post-war youngsters.

Davenport and Partners were Henry's employers. But they were much more than that. The firm was a sort of religion to him, and its welfare the only welfare that counted. When Henry said "the firm" it was with that inflexion of voice that is sometimes heard in the mess-rooms of crack regiments.

The tube train, with a series of spasmodic jerks, lurched roaring into the lighted station from the dark mouth of the circular tunnel. Henry alighted. He had rehearsed the coming scene over and over again. He had even prepared a little speech. It was a speech simple and sincere, a tribute, not to his own long service, but to "the firm."

As the escalator carried him upwards he was marvelling yet again at the perfect secrecy maintained in the office. Not a hint from one of them. Well, he considered he could dissemble as cleverly as they, and simulate the expected surprise.

Ah—something like that. At 9.30 sharp, as upon some thousand-and-one nine-thirties, Henry Fordaway sat down at his corner desk and adjusted the paper covers to his white star-bed cuffs.

●

At ten, or thereabouts—for he was not like his father, young Mr. Thomas would arrive. Actually however, it was nearer eleven o'clock when the senior partner passed through the outer office with a mumbled "Good morning" and disappeared into his private office.

Thomas Davenport belongs to the generation that uses night clubs. He had danced till 3 a.m., and now his head ached from the many cocktails he had drunk.

At half-past twelve, Mr Thomas, whose voice had filtered through from the inner office more than once, a voice raised to irritation, emerged. "Back at two," he snapped, as he strode past Henry Fordaway's desk.

Henry went out to lunch in thoughtful mood. The clerks were discusing chances in the Irish sweep. They did not remark his set and sober face.

Something must have gone wrong with the great day. He realised that, and it took his appetite away.

●

But it was not until five o'clock had struck that Henry admitted to himself the truth. There was to be no great day. Nobody had remembered. He had been forgotten. Was it possible?

The juniors were noisily slamming the great red-bound ledgers; somebody swung shut the door of the safe, whistling the while. Soon the last of them had gone.

Henry remained at his desk. Slowly a tear gathered and trickled down his cheeks.

●

The silver bowl stood on the counter beneath which, like fabulous fish in a pellucid sea, glittered the shining facets of many jewels.

"So would it be possible to have it engraved immediately," he asked. "You see, it's—er—it's for a presentation."

He wondered vaguely whether the jeweller believed him.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Probation after Death" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon at all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, April 12. The golden text is from Psalms 138: "The Lord will perfect that which concerneth me; thy mercy, O Lord, endureth for ever; forsake not the works of thine own hands." Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Jesus saith unto him, Rise, take up thy bed, and walk. And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked." John 5; 8, 9.

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "When the sick or the sinning awake to realise their need of what they have not, they will be receptive of divine Science, which gravitates towards Soul and away from material sense; removes thought from the body, and elevates even mortal mind to the contemplation of something better than disease or sin." (Page 323.)

"What did you think of the big fight last night Murphy?" "Fight?" returned Mike scornfully. "If the missus and me 'ad put up a show like that on Saturday night the kids would 'ave booed us."

THIS CORSET BUSINESS

Is it merely a matter of ha[bit] that women wear corsets? [Or] most of us wear them becau[se] we want to enhance—or corr[ect] the lines of our figures. [Or] may need control at wa[ist] "tummy," or hips, and we lo[ve] to a corset to give us what [we] want.

But a corset cannot do a r[eal] job for us unless it fits prop[erly] . . . unless it is right for [the] shape of the woman who is wa[ring] it. For an ill-fitting [corset] tion, causing discomfort or [even] noyance, is more a hindran[ce] a help to the figure.

No country in the world is more dangerously menaced in this respect than is Australia. I believe that unless something is done, in two generations, Australia, despite its White Australia policy, will cease to be a country inhabited by a pure white race. I believe a practicable scheme could be evolved to increase our population without menacing the standard of living of the Australian worker.

It is most regrettable that, when the Australian people are looking for courageous leadership, there is not a Government possessing sufficient courage, wisdom, or conscience statesmanship to deal with the situation. I hope there will be created in this country a public feeling which, realising the dangers facing us and what is needed for Australia's welfare, will compel [illegible] to take up this spectacle in [illegible] and work [illegible] [illegible] looking for a country which [illegible] [illegible] Robert Gordon Menzies [illegible]

Northcote Social Club

THERE was a large gathering of members at the annual meeting of the Northcote Social Club on April 17.

Mr. A. Dalzeiish, the retiring president, said a happy fraternal spirit permeated the whole of the members. He was pleased to announce that although the expenditure had been heavier than in previous years, the club was still in a financial position.

In handing over the reins of office to his successor (Mr. W. A. Callaghan) he was confident that the dignity and prestige of the club would be maintained.

Officers elected were—Vice-presidents, Messrs. J. H. Merrick, Dr. Friedman; hon. treasurer, Mr. J. R. Gould; hon. secretary, Mr. W. M. Hoeben; committee, Messrs. [illegible] Wedgwood, P. Wedgwood, [illegible] Stewart, [illegible] Jackson.

POISONING OF PETS

CASES of poisoning occur much oftener than is generally realised. The causes may be accidental or sometimes deliberate. A summary of the most frequently met with accidental causes of poisoning is given below. Most poisons work quickly and it is essential that the cause of poisoning is recognised quickly and the proper treatment applied at once. Certain medicines mentioned below should be kept in the home so that treatment may be given without delay.

STRYCHNINE

This is one of the most commonly met with poisons. It may be taken up by the dog accidently by eating poisoned wheat meant for mice or from baits left by careless or malicious persons.

Symptoms — Convulsions and great abdominal pain. The whole body trembles and the eyes are staring. The dog goes into a delirium and will die quickly unless attended to. As an emetic give mon salt in warm water. The proportion is one tablespoonful of salt to a tumbler of warm water. Give this every fifteen minutes until the dog has vomited up all traces of poison. A bromide of potassium mixture may be necessary to control the spasms whilst the strychnine is still in the system. As the dog improves, feed with plenty of good nourishing but easily digested food and avoid fatigue.

PHOSPHORUS

This form of poisoning is met with in dogs which have picked up rat baits prepared from such substances at Rat Death. First thing to remember is that under no circumstances must oil be given in any form. This accentuates the action of the poison.

Symptoms—Much vomiting and diarrhoea, intense pain in the stomach and bowels. The abdomen is drawn tight and is very tender to the touch. There is a strong odor of garlic about the dog. As an emetic give weak solution of bluestone (copper sulphate) as soon as possible. After the vomiting has subsided give three grains of powdered bluestone with a little water every half hour. As the dog improves give plenty of demulcent and soothing drinks such as thin starch or barley water to which has been added half a teaspoonful of pure turpentine. Phosphorus poisoning requires careful and patient nursing and must be watched carefully.

ARSENIC

This is often picked up by dogs from various arsenical sheep dippers and garden syrups and whilst a slow poison must be completely eliminated from the system.

Symptoms — Vomiting of a greenish or yellowish substance tinged with blood. Diarrhoea and a thirst for water. Violent pains and tenderness in stomach. Ultimately the dog will become delirious and death will follow if treatment is not given. To make the dog sick give immediately a teaspoon of common salt with a tumbler of warm water. After the poison is vomited up, give dailysed iron as an antidote frequently (about every 15 minutes). As the dog improves give white of egg, milk, or lime water. Feed the dog with light nourishing food and give small frequent meals at first until the dog regains strength.

CARBOLIC ACID, LYSOL

Carbolic acid, lysol and similar substances of antiseptic nature and general disinfectants are found in every home and can be may accidentally drink some of the poison.

It affected with carbolic poison the dog will froth at the mouth while vomiting and the inside lining of the mouth is hardened and white. The abdomen is very tender and there is diarrhoea. The eyes appear smaller due to the contraction of the pupils. The dog breathes heavily and goes into a coma in the last stages. Treatment should be in the hands of a veterinary surgeon who will make the dog sick by giving hydrochlorate of ammorphis and then a dose of castor oil. Glauber salts will later be given every three hours.

As an antidote to the poison bi carbonate of soda (baking soda) or powdered magnesia will be given. The dog must be given stimulants such as brandy should the necessity arise. Keep the dog warm with a hot water bag and give frequent doses of white of egg, buttermilk or olive oil.

POWDERED GLASS

This poison will only be found deliberately laid down as a bait. It causes intense pain in the abdomen with froth tinged with blood at the mouth.

Treatment—Give the dog large quantities of bread. This swells in the stomach and encloses the particles of glass to prevent further damage. Thick porridge can be given instead of the bread When plenty of either of these two have been given then give ipecacuanha wine to make the dog sick. If any traces of glass particles are found in the vomit then more bread or porridge must be given and then more ipecacuanha wine. This is repeated until there is no further sign of glass in the vomit. Then give light but nourishing food with plenty of liquids such as milk, cream, and custard. Barley water is also very good. The dog must not be exercised too much during the early days and must be kept quiet until well on the road to recovery. No purgatives of any kind must be given until the dog has got rid of all of the glass as otherwise the action of the glass will be quickened and the death of the dog hastened.

As a final summary the signs of poisoning first noticed in general are pain and tenderness of abdomen, diarrhoea or vomiting. When any of these are present a post-examination must be made to determine if possible the exact cause. In very cases of poisoning a veterinary surgeon should be called in at the earliest possible moment. In most cases the first thing to do is to give an emetic and make the dog sick. Then an antidote to counteract the effects of the poison and finally treatment of the after-effects and anything further to bring the dog back to health. This rule does not apply in every case as is seen in the case of glass poisoning as there the antidote is given before the emetic. The treatment for each poison is necessarily different and the above brief details of the various poisons should be kept on hand for future reference should the occasion arise.

Fatalaties And Accidents

CLERK KILLED

Edmund Thomas, 22 years, of Bokhara Rd. Caulfield, was critically injured and died before reaching St. Vincent's Hospital after being thrown from his motorcycle into the corrugated iron fence of a show factory in Hoddle St. Clifton Hill on Sunday last.

Thomas was employed as a clerk in S. G. Tomkins' dairy, Shaftesbury Pde, Thornbury, and had left the dairy shortly after 2 p.m. He was travelling south along Hoddle St. when he lost control of his machine, which skidded for over 150 yards, mounted the footpath and rebounded on to the roadway.

MOTOR CYCLIST INJURED

A motor cycle driven by Henry Meatha, 31, of Bendigo St. Thornbury, collided with a motor lorry driven by Ernest Hall, of Preston, at the corner of Bell and High Sts, Preston, early on Saturday morning. Five minutes after it had been left unattended at the corner of Heidelberg Rd. and Gillies St. Fairfield. The lorry struck a tree. Following the impact two men were seen to run away from the wrecked vehicle.

Normanby Ave. Bridge

BOARD'S PLAN TO DIVERT MERRI CREEK

The Metropolitan Board of Works has made available a statement in connection with the construction of the proposed bridge over the Merri Creek at Normanby Ave. This aims at providing more direct transportation between Northcote and Brunswick, Coburg and Essendon.

The Board takes the view that owing to the position of the creek, the bridge (which would be a valuable link between Northcote and Brunswick) could not be constructed effectively. To do this it would be necessary to deviate the stream. A scheme which should meet the needs of both the three councils and the Board, would be to divert the creek and fill in the bed from the upstream point of diversion easterly to the southern side of Normanby Av. at Mayer Park, and from there to smooth out and partially fill the creek bed sufficiently to effect drainage of surface waters. This would leave available to the council 17,000 cubic yards of spoil toward the total requirement of 30,000 cubic yds for road embankments.

The Board has intimated that it might be prepared to carry out the work, provided that the stream works would have first call on the spoil, and the stream works were designed and constructed by the Board. As the sole benefit of the work would be to the road authorities and the adjacent municipalities, the whole of the Board's costs for design and construction must be met without contribution by the Board.

We understand that a communication on similar lines has been received by the Northcote West Ward Progress Association, but this will not be dealt with until the ordinary monthly meeting.

Order for Ejectment. — Thomas Gidney, process server, Robert St., Northcote, secured an order of ejectment at the Northcote Court on April 23 against Thomas M. Miller in respect to premises occupied by him at the rear of a shop in High St. Northcote.

W. SMITH & SONS PTY. LTD.

In last week's issue it was reported that W. Smith & Sons Pty. Ltd. had sold their business to the Argentine Meat Co. This is incorrect.

Neither that Company nor any other meat works, either in Australia or abroad, has any connection directly or indirectly with W. Smith & Sons Pty. Ltd., nor is any foreign capital represented.

Further notice of the activities of this firm will be found on Page 10.

TRAMWAY BOARD CHAIRMAN'S EXPLANATION

The well deserved criticism of the condition of the Bourke St.-Clifton Hill-Northcote cable tram service at the Northcote City Council has drawn a reply from the chairman of the Tramways Board (Mr. Bell) which cannot be regarded as satisfactory by the people who use the route on which the new double-decker buses are due to run.

Mr. Bell, with an evasiveness characteristic of most Government departments, instead of taking the people into his confidence, has endeavoured to draw a red herring across the tramtrack. He said that the buses would go into service when the cables on the present services "could no longer run". Just what the latter is meant to convey, is hard to understand.

Quite apart from the cables, the tracks are in a disgraceful state of disrepair, and much reconditioning would need to be done if the trams are to continue running satisfactorily for any length of time. A ride in one of these antiquated "Noah's arks" will convince anybody how rough and unpleasant they have become. People who have to use the route are as equally entitled to ride in comfort as are those using every other service in the suburbs of Melbourne. The Northcote route, moreover, is one of the best paying in the metropolis.

"The cables might break to-morrow, or they might last for three months," said Mr. Bell. But would Mr. Bell give an undertaking that the buses would be ready to go on the road at the period mentioned by him—three months?

Are we right in saying that the Federal Department of Supply is co-operating with the Board in arranging supplies of cables so that no alteration will be made in the existing service so that supplies of oil and petrol can be conserved? The time is long overdue for an alteration in the present method, which, if adhered to for any length of time will still further penalise Northcote and Clifton Hill whilst other suburban areas receive preferential consideration.

Mr. Bell's statement that he will get the last ounce out of the present service is an insult to the people and a reflection on their intelligence. It might be said that the service at the present—without any thought of the future—provides the maximum of discomfort in transport arrangements. So much so, that many people prefer, even at a little inconvenience, to travel by the St. George's Rd. electric tram.

Another side of the argument is that buses, which cost many thousands of pounds to build, are being idle without being revenue producing, or without the money being interest-bearing in any way.

On a recent Friday the trams were out of commission for two periods during the day, with consequent inconvenience to passengers. It would be grossly unfair to let the trams, tracks, and equipment run down still further with more frequent stoppages than occur now. There are still residents in Northcote who remember the early days of the trams when passengers would pay 1d. for one section, and then if the tram kept going, would risk 1d. for another, so that if the cables did part—a frequent occurrence in those days—they would not have paid for their ride and then have to walk as well. Things are not as bad as that yet, but if the trams and equipment are run to the "last ounce" such a time might occur—with this difference, that the fares are drawn on the first section.

One thing, however is encouraging, and that is the fact that double-decker buses are being run along the route (empty of course) in order to give the drivers experience, and many people take this as a good sign that the use of the buses is not so far off.

POSITION STILL OBSCURE

The Northcote City Council, we understand, discussed matters connected with the High St. tramway service in committee on Monday night, and no action was taken for the reason that it was anticipated that the buses would be on the road "very shortly"—whatever that may mean.

There was a rumour in circulation that certain tramways employes had been informed that the change over would be effected on Sunday next. If that is the case it is hardly consistent with the reply given by Mr. Russell, Publicity Officer of the Tramways Board yesterday, when he was approached on the matter by a representative of the "Leader-Budget."

When asked if he could supply the date when the buses would take over, Mr. Russell said he could not. But he repeated what he had said on a previous occasion, namely, that when he knew when the alteration would take place, he would advise the "Leader-Budget." We appreciate Mr. Russell's courtesy.

METHODS OF LICENSING POLICE CRITICISED

Nothing More Than "Common Urgers"

PEOPLE IMPORTUNED TO BREAK THE LAW

The methods adopted by the policeman—more especially those attached to the Licensing branch—in endeavoring to get a secure convictions, were adversely commented on in the Preston Court by a solicitor who was defending a man charged with selling liquor without being the holder of a license.

The constable who alleged he purchased the beer, said the solicitor, is no better than a person who acts out to get a conviction by fair means or the case with any ordinary citizen

The methods adopted by the police, one of the constables present, he was drunk, and in his anxiety to get a conviction, must be prepared to withstand the criticism hurled at him in the court. The practice of importuning people to break the law, and then charge them to more credence than would be by reason of their position as common urgers. The fact that these men were police officers did not entitle them to any ordinary citizen.

THIS BROUGHT THE HOUSE DOWN

What Is A "Flying Mare"?

IT happened at the Plaza Quiz last Thursday night. Genial Master of Ceremonies Fred Tupper asked the question: "What is a 'Flying Mare?' obviously referring to the wrestling hold of that name.

But the gentleman to whom the question was directed didn't hesitate a second . . . . "Rivette, of course!" was his answer and who's to say he was wrong. Ask those bookies who laid her whether she's a "Flying Mare"

DEATH

AT the residence of her brother (Mr. H. H. Phillips) 1 Clyde St, Thornbury, the death took place on April 19 of Miss Elizabeth Hannah Phillips at the age of 88 years. The funeral was at the Fawkner Cemetery on April 20.

AT his residence, 51 Clarendon St, Thornbury, Mr. Walter Morrison died on April 2 at the age of 69 years. He leaves a family of five, Athel, Lorna, Clyde, Walter and Alan. Deceased was a widower.

THERE were many expressions of regret when it became known that Mr. Robert Thompson, had died at his residence "Arabien" Bastings St., Northcote on April 19. Deceased was well-known and highly respected in Northcote, where he had a large circle of friends. Prior to retiring some years ago, Mr. Thompson was an officer of the State Treasury, where he was regarded as a most zealous official. He had been on the Committee of the Northcote Public Library since November 1920, and was treasurer of the organisation up to a short time before his death. He was also a member of the Northcote Bowling Club, but apart from these two activities, he was not greatly interested in public life. The remains were cremated at the Fawkner Crematorium on April 20. A widow, Mrs Mary E. Thompson — who is very well known for her long association with charitable and Red Cross work in Northcote—is left. Mrs Thompson, we regret to say, is not in good health.

PERSONAL

MR Ben Hosking, a well-known Northcote businessman, and President of the Northcote Chamber of Commerce and Northcote Football Club, has returned from Flinders where he spent 11 days holidaying with Mrs. Hosking and child amidst restful surroundings. Mr. Hosking was present at the opening match between Preston and Northcote teams at Preston last Saturday.

A postman who had been in the postal service for 50 years, in the person of Mr. E. D. Miller, retired on April 19. It might be mentioned that Mr. Miller was selected as the nominal plaintiff in a case which went to the Privy Council, and lasted for years. It was a claim by Victorian employees who became Commonwealth servants after Federation that they should receive rates of pay equal to those paid in other States, and the claim succeeded. It had been said that Mr. Miller was as well-known as the town clock. Such a remark in Northcote is rather ironical, because there is no town clock—although there might be one some day. But all the same, Mr. Miller was an established institution who radiated courtesy and kindliness with efficiency, and he will be much missed. Mr. Miller is at present holidaying at Hepburn.

He was committed for trial on the four charges.

ARTHUR Clifford Northeast, said he did. He also said he had process engraver, of Lee St, told the machines on March 15 on Dennis, said that on February 16 he left his bicycle in Ballantyne St, Thornbury, for about five minutes. When he returned he found his bicycle had been stolen.

Detective Fiaby, cyclist, said that on February 14 he left his bicycle in front of the door of the main entrance to the Preston Technical School. When he returned later the bicycle was missing. He valued it at £5. He had seen a different seat.

Emily May Caylie, clerk, residing at Gilbert Rd, West Preston, said that on February 24 she left her golf bag and clubs in a car and they were stolen. She valued them at £16.

Robert Gardiner Metcalf, cycle trader, and licensed secondhand dealer, Sydney Rd, Brunswick, and residing at Leicester St, Preston, said he had known accused for seven or eight years. On February 26 he saw accused at Gilbert Rd, Preston about 5.30 p.m. Accused had for sale two bicycles. Witness bought them for £2 and brought them into the shop where witness was carrying on business. Witness offered £1 for the Cleveland cycle and accused agreed. These particulars were eventually agreed to by accused. Witness took the cycles and he had not seen accused since. He had not sold them.

Under cross-examination witness said his money had been returned to him. According to family affairs were settled. Was convicted and witness said he was fined £1 or in default a week's imprisonment. It came as a shock to him when he found out that was something wrong with the cycles.

Accused told him a boy named Mansfield brought the bicycles to him. The police saw Mansfield and in the presence of the accused Mansfield said he did take the bicycles to Hawkins, who said he put them in the garage and left the key there. When charged with the fact that he knew the bicycles were stolen, Hawkins said: "I thought they were all right."

Accused, in reply to Detective Raper, said that he had tried to sell the golf clubs to one man only. On a search being made a radiator cap was found in accused's garage. Accused said Mansfield had brought it to him and said he had pinched it off a car. He had not paid Mansfield anything for the cap, and Mansfield had brought him two more caps, one of which he had returned to the owner.

First-Constable Opperman gave evidence of a corroborative nature.

A. Hicks (counsel said that if the case would deal with the cases, accused would plead guilty.

Mr. McMahon, J.P., chairman, said that the bench thought that accused ought to be committed for trial on the charges. He was accordingly committed for trial at the General Sessions, Melbourne, on May 1.

Money Allegedly Taken From A Neighbor

MAN COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

JAMES Albert Sheehan, Albion, and W. Brunswick, was presented against on April 19 for having stolen an overcoat, scarf and hat valued at £5.5, the property of Jack Wright.

Jack Wright, electrical engineer, East Brunswick, said that at 9.15 p.m. on April 12 he went to a kitchen tea at the Northcote Peace hall Pavilion, wearing a camel hair overcoat. This he hung in the hall together with his hat. He also placed a scarf in the pocket of the overcoat. Later in the evening the articles were missing. Accused was in the room where the coats were.

Jack Berry, packer, Spensley St, Clifton Hill, said he was also present at the Kitchen Tea. He was wearing an overcoat which was hung in a cloakroom. He also put his hat and bags and a scarf. Later on he found the overcoat and the handbags were missing. Twenty minutes later he saw accused walking up the road with a camel hair coat on his arm similar to witness's. On April 15 witness identified accused at the Bank he saw taking the coat.

First Constable Knight said that on April 15 he apprehended accused in Bank St, Northcote. Detective Sergeant Ryan went to Albert St, West Brunswick, where he saw accused. Also admitted he had been to the Kitchen Tea. He denied taking any coats. Accused was taken to Northcote Detective Office where he was identified by Berry as the person who took the coat. Accused said he would say nothing and did not make any statement. When asked by witness whether he could get the coat back accused said he did not know what he could do. The coat was not found at accused's home.

Detective Exeton said that with the permission of the bench he would like the reference to the hat in the charge deleted, and the bench agreed to that course.

Accused's solicitor said there was no evidence that he had taken the coat, to which Mr. Addison, P.M., replied that it was not for the bench to say whether accused was guilty or not. That rested with the jury. It was the court's duty only to decide whether there was sufficient evidence to send accused for trial. They found that there was. Accused would stand his trial, therefore, at the General Sessions on May 1, bail being fixed in one surety of £25 and self in a similar sum.

Northcote Woman's Trip Abroad

INTERESTING TALK BY MRS. J. J. RYAN

As the result of a travel talk by Mrs. J. J. Ryan, which was given in the Committee Room of the Northcote Town Hall on April 11, the funds of the Northcote-Thornbury Auxiliary of the Red Cross should benefit appreciably, there being a good attendance to listen to the most interesting remarks of the speaker.

Amongst those present were Mayoress of Northcote (Mrs. Bird) and Mrs. Brennan (wife of Mr. Brennan, M.H.R.) who is resident from an illness, and to whom the members (Mrs. Jowett) expressed a warm welcome, as she also did to a number of other visitors.

Mrs. Ryan commenced by saying that she had the opportunity of visiting many countries as an auxiliary for the Red Cross, and that she had been pleased with all sorts of receptions, concerts and dances.

At Colombo a visit was paid to Kandy, where cocoanuts, bananas and other tropical fruits were growing in profusion by the sides of the road. The homes of the natives were little shacks built of bamboo. Whilst at Kandy she met with rain for two months, and it rained for some time.

Mrs. Ryan described Bombay as later were impressive in appearance. There were Europeans there, but the majority were Indians. Those who were there were housed in beautiful mansions along the sea front. The conditions under which the people lived in Bombay were appalling. Light was supplied by smoky lamps, and she wondered how it was possible to survive at all. The Sikhs were a splendid race. Many of them were six feet high, and the description, if she might so term it, would not be complete without a reference to their beards. They were very proud of their appearance, and the working class people were very poor. Many of them were to be seen in the streets sleeping on the pavements at night, with only a piece of newspaper for a covering.

Mrs. Ryan referred to the wonderful forces. There were many beautiful buildings, and the architecture was wonderful. Many of the buildings were made of white marble, and inside were many beautiful carvings. The Taj Mahal, which was built by Shah Jehan in memory of his wife, was a wonderful piece of workmanship. It was 200 years old and was built entirely of white marble. Crusades were the most wonderful design and had been the work of 20,000 men for 22 years. The interiors of the buildings were also wonderful. The ceilings were made of white marble, consisting of precious stones, and porcelain and mosaic. Some of the Kings' graves were also covered with precious stones and had been shields of gold.

After viewing the Pyramids a survey was made of the Nile, where there were farms dotted about everywhere. Despite the fact that the land was poor crops a year, the methods of cultivation were extremely primitive. The people, caused by the Nile depositing vast quantities of silt along its banks.

At Gibraltar, just a huge rock rising out on the ocean on the south coast of Spain, the soldiers appeared to be preparing for war, although there was then no talk of such a thing.

She was a little disappointed at her first sight of England, Mrs. Ryan said, but after spending 16 days in London and six weeks touring in the country districts, she came to the conclusion that it was a fine country. Some of the places inland at the time of the visit, there did no appear to be much activity going on, most of the people being engaged in factories and shops. The towns appeared congested.

From England Mr. and Mrs. Ryan went to Scotland and it was said, some country the Lochs were beautiful, especially Loch Lomond, which the Evangelist sang about, and to which she could never refer without a very noble.

In Ireland they met Mr. de Valera, President of the Irish Free State, who gave them a cordial welcome. The beauty of Ireland, said Mrs. Ryan, was indescribable, and the flowers, which grew along the roads were wonderful.

After visiting France, where the vation was intense, and the farmers heroically kept, Italy was visited, and in Rome they had an audience with the Pope, who received them graciously.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mrs. Ryan for her most interesting talk. During the afternoon, pianoforte numbers were rendered by Miss Mamie Clifford.

Mrs. A. Ryan nicely rendered

CAN WE KEEP AUSTRALIA WHITE?

E. L. Kiernan, M.L.C., Expresses His Views

Mr. E. L. Kiernan, M.L.C., speaking on the subject of the Australian Labor Party's policy of tapping at our doors, said that we should be thankful behind every Australian soldier there was a people willing to fight for their country. The war we keep Australia white. There was no difference between Britain, America, Australia and New Zealand on the subject of the Australian Labor Party's policy of tapping at our doors. Australia was the only country in the world which had a white-skinned woman, was flanked with stealing that amount from Regina Sullivan, married

Regina Sullivan, Dundas St, Thornbury, said that at 1.30 p.m. on April 2 she was in the kitchen of her home when accused came in with a bottle of wine. She turning to her kitchen witness found the cabinet in an untidy condition and her purse had been emptied. In the bag was about 12/9. Whilst witness was outside transacting business with the man, nobody else was in her house. On the following day defendant told her the police had "got her," and if witness were offered £1 would she keep the case out of court, adding that witness would leave the case under any circumstances. Witness told defendant the matter was in the hands of the police.

First Constable Knight said that on March 22 he saw accused at his shop and told him it was believed he had some stolen property on the premises. Accused denied they was any stolen property there, but did say there were some wireless sets. Accused invited the police to look through the house. Accused said he would produce some golf clubs and a rifle to which he replied that he had already some golf clubs which he had received from Mansfield, but had given them back to him. Accused's mother said the golf clubs were in her bedroom. The information given by Hawkins was that he did not want to get Mansfield into any worse trouble.

Accused Detective O'Keefe said, stated that he had tried to sell the golf clubs to one man only. On a search being made a radiator cap was found in accused's garage. Accused said Mansfield had brought it to him and said he had pinched it off a car. He had not paid Mansfield anything for the cap, and Mansfield had brought him two more caps, one of which he had returned to the owner.

Also admitted he had been to the Kitchen Tea. He denied taking any coats. Accused was taken to Northcote Detective Office where he was identified by Berry as the person who took the coat. Accused said he would say nothing and did not make any statement. When asked by witness whether he could get the coat back accused said he did not know what he could do. The coat was not found at accused's home.

Detective Exeton said that with the permission of the bench he would like the reference to the hat in the charge deleted, and the bench agreed to that course.

Accused's solicitor said there was no evidence that he had taken the coat, to which Mr. Addison, P.M., replied that it was not for the bench to say whether accused was guilty or not. That rested with the jury. It was the court's duty only to decide whether there was sufficient evidence to send accused for trial. They found that there was. Accused would stand his trial, therefore, at the General Sessions on May 1, bail being fixed in one surety of £25 and self in a similar sum.

Pilfering Is Indulged In At A Kitchen Tea

MAN COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

JAMES Albert Sheehan, Albion, was presented against on April 19 for having stolen an overcoat, scarf and hat valued at £5.5, the property of Jack Wright.

Jack Wright, electrical engineer, East Brunswick, said that at 9.15 p.m. on April 12 he went to a Kitchen tea at the Northcote Peace hall Pavilion, wearing a camel hair overcoat. This he hung in the hall together with his hat. He also placed a scarf in the pocket of the overcoat. Later in the evening the articles were missing. Accused was in the room where the coats were.

Jack Berry, packer, Spensley St, Clifton Hill, said he was also present at the Kitchen Tea. He was wearing an overcoat which was hung in a cloakroom. He also put his hat and bags and a scarf. Later on he found the overcoat and the handbags were missing. Twenty minutes later he saw accused walking up the road with a camel hair coat on his arm similar to witness's. On April 15 witness identified accused at the Bank he saw taking the coat.

First Constable Knight said that on April 15 he apprehended accused in Bank St, Northcote. Detective Sergeant Ryan went to Albert St, West Brunswick, where he saw accused. Also admitted he had been to the Kitchen Tea. He denied taking any coats. Accused was taken to Northcote Detective Office where he was identified by Berry as the person who took the coat. Accused said he would say nothing and did not make any statement. When asked by witness whether he could get the coat back accused said he did not know what he could do. The coat was not found at accused's home.

Magnesium— The Magic Metal

New motorists have any knowledge of magnesium, a metal which is one-third lighter than aluminium, and is already being extensively used in aircraft construction, and for some parts of motor-coaches, cars, etc. Magnesium, it is believed by some experts, is destined to become another important competitor of aluminium for certain components of motor vehicles and especially aircraft, especially as its price has now become competitive. Magnesium alloys can be used almost anywhere aluminium is employed, except for pistons, owing to its higher rate of thermal expansion and low heat conductivity. It is now made in a variety of alloys, including sand and pressure die-cast alloys, and rolled sheet and extruded sections. Various properties such as resistance to corrosion, tensile strength required. The total percentage of these metals in the alloys is always less than 15 per cent, and sometimes under 5 per cent.

The alloys can be cast in sand or permanent moulds, or extruded in various shapes such as plate, sheet, or strip. Depending on the alloy, the tensile strength ranges up to 48,000 lbs per square inch, while the maximum strength in compression is 61,000 lbs.

The rights of manufacture of magnesium alloys have already been secured by an Australian organisation. It is also of interest to mention that the Pennies Peruvian Rubber Co. have, for the last twelve years been supplying aircraft companies in Australia with zero wheels made of magnesium alloys.

The history and method of obtaining the chemical products of magnesium are of interest. Away back in 1902, this silvery white metal was first offered for sale by a German firm, which had a virtual monopoly on the metal for many years. In 1915 the metal sold for 4s 6d per lb. During the world war American company got busy and began to develop its own source of supply. By 1917 the price of this metal dropped to about 1s per lb. In 1928 it was manufactured for 10d per lb., and to-day it is sold in the United States for as low as 1s 6d per lb., thus bringing it into competition with aluminium. Practically all the world's magnesium is produced in U.S.A. comes from that plant at Midland.

In this country, magnesium alloys are now being used extensively in the construction of bus bodies, etc., inasmuch as there is a 25 per cent saving in weight as compared with the conventional steel or wood construction. The reduction in weight, of course, increases the pay-load capacity. As much as 2,000 lbs. weight is to-day being saved in the construction of the chassis and body of some of the Chevrolet motor coaches operating on long distance runs on U.S.A. highways.

For some time there was an unstable supply of magnesium, chiefly owing to the fact that the deposits were not developed during recent years. This is stated to be changed. For instance, new and extensive deposits have been discovered in the Northern Territory.

FACTORY FOR MAKING STORKS' NESTS

One of the most curious factories that has ever existed is that established in Jutland. It manufactures storks' nests. The Danes consider it lucky to have a stork nesting on their roofs, and to encourage them to stop in Denmark instead of migrating to the south, the people are providing the storks with ready-made homes. The factory is not a large one; its output is only a few nests a day, but these find a ready market.

It is found that one way to encourage storks to build a nest is to place an old cart wheel on the top of a barn or disused chimney, and on this lay a bundle of loose twigs. Once a stork has built a nest, year after year it will return to it, each time adding a few more twigs.

When winter approaches, the storks migrate in their thousands to Africa and India. In many parts of Africa they are eagerly awaited, as they feed on the myriads of locusts which, if left unchecked, would strip whole districts bare of every leaf and blade of grass. The storks gorge themselves on the locusts, digest their meal for an hour or so, then disgorge a pellet of indigestible legs and wings. Immediately after that they start gorging again.

RESTRICTED TRADING HOURS

Chemists To Benefit

RADICAL alterations in the trading hours of chemists on Sundays have been agreed upon the restrictions applying to Sunday nights when all chemists from Westgarth to Reservoir and from Dennis to Heidelberg will close their establishments on and after April 28. Positively only urgent prescriptions will in future be supplied on Sunday nights. The public is asked to co-operate with the chemists in this respect. Sunday morning hours will remain as at present, so that practically no hardship will be entailed by the alteration on the public but the chemists will be greatly benefitted.

DISCOURTEOUS TRAMWAY EMPLOYES

(To the Editor.)

Sir,—With the proposed introduction of double-decker passenger buses on the High St route instead of cable trams, I sincerely trust they will be staffed by men who will exhibit more courtesy and consideration than has been shown by some of the drivers and conductors who, at times, are not only rude, but assume the role of arbitrary dictators, and who seem to have the idea firmly established in their craniums (oh yes, I'll be going north as usual) that they are immune from criticism or being disciplined. It is safe to say that no other undertaking would dream of allowing an employee to display such a lack of tone as some of these men That, coupled with their placid indifference to stops when requested at recognised stopping places, would suggest to me that in their hurry to get to Thornbury to spend some leisure, passengers' requests appear to be subordinate to, or antagonistic to the private wishes of the employes. They are the most uncivil and presumptuous type of tramway employe I have seen anywhere in the world—and I have seen very many. Yours etc.,

PRELIMINARY FINALS IN JUVENILE SECTION

A full house expressed its appreciation in unmistakable terms at the quality of the acts in the fourth preliminary finals of the Junior section of the P. and A. Parade Plaza. And they had every reason to be so enthusiastic about the appearance of the young vocalists, instrumentalists and dancers, many of whom, by this description, while showing a desire to win, also assist in presenting young artists to take their proper spirit.

Considerable foresight and not a little expense have been involved in the designing, construction, and laying out of the back garden, where a rockery 6 ft. high and 40 or 50 ft. in length is covered by every conceivable description of creeper, whilst tiny rock flowers of different hues, but mostly blue and yellow, peep their heads out as if to welcome the visitors. A lemon tree in the centre of the higher lawn stands out like a stalwart sentinel as if to guard the weaker plants around him. It makes a charming scene, symbolic of a combination of nature's best and artificial beauty.

Mrs. Hosking's garden at the rear of her house is not set out on such massive lines as her son's, but it is remarkably picturesque all the same, and demonstrates how excellent is her taste in all matters relating to her beloved garden. OUR SHORT STORY—

THE SILVER BOWL

The breakfast table with its rose-filled china bowl, looked very bright, and even the canary, in his window cage, seemed to be celebrating the arrival of the great day with his full throated song.

They sat opposite one another, the spare little man with thinning grey hair, and the little woman whose quick, bright movements suggested a singing bird.

Maybe they will present me with a silver bowl, Mrs. Ford-petite away had told herself, as she poured the tea.

The china bowl was very nice, of course, and an old friend. But he was prepared to be ruthless and to banish it, should her hopes materialise.

Once or twice as the day approached, she had mentioned this expectation here and there, and Henry had not put the idea aside completely, unlikely.

A silver bowl!

How nice it would look, filled with flowers, with roses from the small garden at the back.

Mrs. Fordaway cracked her white egg. Mr. Fordaway cracked his brown egg. She always gave Henry the brown egg; he liked the brown. So too did she; but marriage is like that.

She raised her bright eyes and admitted her husband to a secret, wifely inspection. It was a reward bird-like and loving.

He looked very nice, she considered, in his new black jacket with that winged collar, set off by the new grey silk tie. Nobody would believe he was sixty, even. He looked ten years younger.

The excitement of the occasion passed between them like an electric current; but they said little, for their was that close communion that renders words unnecessary between those who love.

"I think," she apostrophised, as she stood at the door, grasping her thin umbrella and scrutinising a sky pale blue and cloudless, "I think that it is fifty years."

Henry nodded, and his nod said eloquently enough: "It cannot be denied, my dear, but there maybe it is not so wonderful after all." But his eye spoke otherwise. Should a man not feel pride in faithful service?

Fifty years, man and boy, in the firm. From office-boy to head clerk. Fifty years!

Henry Fordaway could recall the time Thomas Davenport, the senior partner, was a public school boy, remembered the great day when he was first taken into partnership. He had become senior partner in the course of the years. Two years ago he had died.

And now it was Master Thomas junior who ruled as master. Henry Fordaway could recall stories from so far back that he seemed incredibly old to the present war youngsters.

Davenport and Partners were Henry's employers. But they were much more than that. The firm was a sort of religion to him, and the welfare the only welfare he counted. When Henry said "the firm" it was with that reflection of voice that is sometimes heard in the inner rooms of crack clubs.

The tube train, with a series of disembodied cries, lurched and rattled to the next station, and Henry Fordaway, startled from his reverie, realised that he had reached the coming stop, and must get out. He rose and stood erect. He was a little man, but he had a certain dignity.

As he stepped out on the platform he was conscious of a sense of exhilaration. He had drunk his usual cup of coffee at breakfast, but he had forgotten to have his usual cup at eleven, and now he had drunk it. At last twelve. Mr. Davenport would be having his sherry through from the inner office.

Henry set out more than once, a voice raised to irritation, emerged. "Back at two," he snapped, as he strode past Henry Fordaway's desk.

Henry went out to lunch in thoughtful mood. The clerks were discussing chances in the Irish sweep. They did not remark his set and sober face.

Something must have gone wrong with the great day. He realised that, and it took his appetite away.

But it was not until five o'clock had struck that Henry admitted to himself the truth. There was to be no great day. Nobody had remembered. He had been forgotten. Was it possible?

The juniors were noisily slamming the great red-bound ledgers; somebody swung shut the door of the safe, whistling the while. Soon the last of them had gone.

Henry remained at his desk. Slowly a tear gathered and trickled down his cheeks.

The silver bowl stood on the clerk's counter beneath which, like fabulous fish in a polluted sea, glittered the shining facets of many jewels.

"So would it be possible to have it engraved immediately," he asked. "You see, it's—er—for a presentation."

He wondered vaguely whether the jeweller believed him.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Probation after Death" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon at all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, April 12. The golden text is from Psalms 118: 5: "The Lord with perfect that which concerneth me; thy mercy O Lord, endureth for ever; forsake not the works of thine own hands." Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Jesus saith unto him, Rise, take up thy bed, and walk. And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked." John 5: 8, 9. The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "When the sick or the sinning awake to realise their need of what they have not, they will be receptive of divine Science, which gravitates towards Soul and away from material sense; removes thought from the body, and elevates even mortal mind to the contemplation of something better than disease or sin." (Page 323.)

"What did you think of the big fight last night, Murphy?" "Fight!" retorted Mike scornfully. "If the mosquito and me had put up a show like that on Saturday night the kids would've kicked us."

THIS CORSET BUSINESS

IS it merely a matter of habit that women wear corsets? No, most of us wear them because we want to enhance—or correct the lines of our figures. We may need control at waist, "tummy," or hips, and we look to a corset to give us what we want.

But a corset cannot do a good job for us unless it fits properly . . . unless it is right for the shape of the woman who is wearing it. For an ill-fitting foundation, causing discomfort or annoyance, is more a hindrance than a help to the figure.

Considering how important correctness of fit is in a corset, we should always buy these intimate garments the personal-fitting way. No use merely holding something up against ourself and thinking it will do. Why, no one—not even an expert—can tell a woman which corset she should wear simply by seeing her fully dressed.

Stores with their own trained corsetieres in attendance always encourage women to be fitted for their corsets, knowing that this is the way to give customers smartness plus comfort. In addition to their regular service, however, F. Rowland & Co. have arranged for Miss Joyce Cook, the Berlei expert, to be in their corset department from April 29 to May 2 and they invite you to call in and have a fitting by her. Appointments to see Miss Cook may be booked in advance at F. Rowland & Co., 319 High St. Northcote.

SENATE ELECTION

PRE-SELECTION BALLOT

In October of this year or thereabouts there will be a Federal election, and there are four Victorian seats. At the present time the members of the A.L.P. branches and various unions are conducting ballots to select four members from the Labor Party of the 19 nominated, to carry the banner for Labor at the election. As will be seen from an advertisement elsewhere, the Thornbury Branch will hold their ballot at the meeting on Wednesday, May 1, when financial members with six months' membership will have the opportunity to select their four of the nineteen nominated. The ballot will be open from 7.30 p.m. to 10.30 at the Dispensary Hall. Good S.

FINANCIAL AND SOCIAL REFORM

Mr. Kiernan, M.L.C., On Need For It

Courage, vision, and constructive leadership are needed, says Mr. Kiernan, to bring about the financial and social reform which are so urgently needed in Australia and throughout the world to-day. We quote for the interest of readers from a speech in the House by Mr. Kiernan, who is again contesting as an Independent, the Melbourne North province seat which he has held for 27 years.

"The movement does not appear to realise that we are living in a changed world, which requires that some practical and comprehensive steps be taken to deal with rehabilitation. We have a right to expect from the Government courage, vision, and constructive leadership. It cannot be said that the present Government has shown either of constructive leadership . . .

. . . are, if we could but realise it, the most fortunate of the generations of men. . . . has given us more power over nature, and extended further the range of the exploring mind than . . . recorded history. Now, and now only, our material resources, our technical knowledge, and industrial skill are enough to afford every man in the world's teeming population physical comfort, adequate leisure, and access to everything in the heritage of civilisation . . . he has the quality to enjoy. We need but the regulative wisdom to control our specialised activities and the thrusting energies of our sectional and selfish interests.

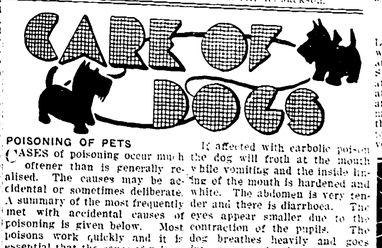
. . . statement of a man who . . . that the world has gone . . . great changes and a new attitude . . . political and social life . . . required if the people are to get out of their present difficulties. The productive powers of the community were never greater than they are now; there . . . a greater supply of commodities . . . of machinery for productive . . . there never was a greater . . . on the part of human beings . . . their minds and energies to . . . productive activities. In spite . . . increase production and poten- . . . the people, are we going to . . . say we can do nothing; . . . there is too much food . . . starve; that there is not enough clothing people must go . . .

. . . essential is to protect in- . . . and then protect the people . . . exploitation. If this is to be . . . the policy of "laissez-faire" . . . must be abandoned and action . . . to restrict profits within reasonable limits, and, if necessary, to control interest rates.

It is most important in the interests of the Empire and European culture that Australia should be placed in a position to pay her way and encourage population. Taking the habitable area of the British Empire, that is excluding deserts, the population of England and Wales is 678 to the square mile; the population of New Zealand is 36 to the square mile; that of Canada 7.7; and Australia has a population of only 3.75 to the square mile. Can we remain with our arms folded while our country in menaced in this way? No country in the world is more dangerously menaced in this respect than is Australia. I believe that unless something is done, in two generations, Australia, despite its White Australia policy, will cease to be a country inhabited by a pure white race. I believe a practicable scheme could be evolved to increase our population without re-macing the standard of living of the Australian worker.

It is most regrettable that, when the Australian people are looking for courageous leadership, there is not a Government possessing sufficient courage, wisdom, or constructive statesmanship to deal with the . . .

. . . are facing us and what is needed for Australia's welfare, will . . . the Parliamentarians and the leaders of people to take up this question in a . . . spirit, and work together to achieve something for a country which . . . indeed fair habitation . . .



POISONING OF PETS

CASES of poisoning occur much oftener than is generally realised. The causes may be accidental or sometimes deliberate. A summary of the most frequently met with accidental causes of poisoning is given below. Most poisons work quickly and it is essential that the cause of poisoning is recognised quickly and the proper treatment applied at once. Certain medicines mentioned below should be kept in the home so that treatment may be given without delay.

STRYCHNINE

This is one of the most commonly met with poisons. It may be taken up by the dog accidently by eating poisoned wheat meant for mice or from baits left by careless or malicious persons.

Symptoms — Convulsions and great abdominal pain. The whole body trembles and the eyes are staring. The dog goes into a delirium and will die quickly unless attended to. As an emetic give common salt in warm water. The proportion is one tablespoonful of salt to a tumbler of warm water. Give this every fifteen minutes until the dog has vomited up all traces of poison. A bromide of potassium mixture may be necessary to control the spasms whilst the strychnine is still in the system. As the dog improves, feed with plenty of good nourishing but easily digested food and avoid fatigue.

PHOSPHORUS

This form of poisoning is met with in dogs which have picked up rat baits prepred from such substances as Rat Death. First thing to remember is that under no circumstances must oil be given in any form. This accentuates the action of the poison.

Symptoms—Much vomiting and diarrhoea. Intense pain in the stomach and bowels. The abdomen is drawn tight and is very tender to the touch. There is a strong odor of garlic about the dog. As an emetic give weak solution of bluestone (copper sulphate) as soon as possible. After the vomiting has subsided give three grains of powdered bluestone with a little water every half hour. As the dog improves give plenty of demulcent and soothing drinks such as thin starch or barley water to which has been added half a teaspoon of pare turpentine. Phosphorus poisoning requires careful and patient nursing and must be watched carefully.

ARSENIC

This is often picked up by dogs from various arsenical slug killers and garden syrups and whilst a slow poison must be completely eliminated from the system.

Symptoms — Vomiting of a greenish or yellowish substance tinged with blood. Diarrhoea and a thirst for water. Violent pains and tenderness in stomach. Ultimately the dog will become delirious and death will follow if treatment is not given. To make the dog sick give immediately a teaspoon of common salt with a tumbler of warm water. After the poison is vomited up, give dailysed iron as an antidote frequently (about every 15 minutes). As the dog improves give white of egg, milk, or lime water. Feed the dog with light nourishing food and give small frequent meals at first until the dog regains strength.

CARBOLIC ACID, LYSOL

Carbolic acid, lysol and similar substances of antiseptic nature and general disinfectants are found in every home and the dog may accidentally drink some of it affected with carbolic poison the dog will froth at the mouth while vomiting and the inside lining of the mouth is hardened and white. The abdomen is very tender and there is diarrhoea. The eyes appear smaller due to the contraction of the pupils. The dog breathes heavily and goes into a coma in the last stages. Treatment should be in the hands of a veterinary surgeon who will make the dog sick by giving hydrochlorate of aphmorphia and then a dose of castor oil. Glauber salts will later be given every three hours.

As an antidote to the poison bicarbonate of soda (baking soda) or powdered magnesia will be given. The dog must be given stimulants such as brandy should the necessity arise. Keep the dog warm with a hot water bag and give frequent doses of white of egg, buttermilk, or olive oil.

POWDERED GLASS

This poison will only be found deliberately laid down as a bait. It causes intense pain in the abdomen with froth tinged with blood at the mouth.

Treatment—Give the dog large quantities of bread. This swells in the stomach and encloses the particles of glass to prevent further damage. Thick porridge can be given instead of the bread. When plenty of either of these two have been given then give ipecacuanha wine to make the dog sick. If any traces of glass particles are found in the vomit then more bread or porridge must be given and then more ipecacuanha wine. This is repeated until there is no further sign of glass in the vomit. Then give light but nourishing food with plenty of liquids such as milk cream, and custard. Barley water is also very good. The dog must not be exercised too much during the early days and must be kept quiet until well on the road to recovery. No purgatives of any kind must be given until the dog has got rid of all of the glass as otherwise the action of the glass will be quickened and the inside of the dog hastened.

As a final summary the signs of poisoning first noticed in general will be pain and tenderness of abdomen, diarrhoea or vomiting. When any of these are present further examination must be made to determine if possible the exact poison. In every case of poisoning a veterinary surgeon should be called in at the earliest possible moment. In most cases of the first thing to do is to give an emetic and make the dog sick. Then an antidote to counteract the effects of the poison and finally treatment of the after-effects and anything further to bring the dog back to health. This rule does not apply in every case as is seen in the case of glass poisoning as there the antidote is given before the emetic. The treatment for each poison is necessarily different and the above brief details of the various poisons should be kept on hand for future reference should the occasion arise.

Northcote Social Club

THERE was a large gathering of members at the annual meeting of the Northcote Social Club on April 17.

Mr. A. Daleiesh, the retiring president, said a happy fraternal spirit permeated the whole of the members. He was pleased to announce that although the expenditure had been heavier than in previous years, the club was still in a financial position. In handing over the reins of office to his successor (Mr. W. A. Callaghan) he was confident that the dignity and prestige of the club would be maintained.
